Teachers In D.C. Obtain Strike Sanction; Placards Ready

JCTA Presses To Win Communitiy Support Of Master Agreement And To Encourage Negotiations

By WILL E. THOMAS

Strike sanction has been received and pickets' placards have been made as Jefferson Elementary School District teachers in Daly City press for community support of a proposed master contract that trustees reportedly are reluctant to buy, the president of the Jefferson Classroom Teachers' Association said Monday.

Continuing talks with parent groups, urging them to demand trustees negotiate with the teachers on the master contract they've devised, teacher representatives disclosed they are "ready, if a strike becomes necessary."

The spokesman was Mrs. Joan Hemphill, a Colma Elementary school teacher, who emphasized that teachers are more "united" than ever, as a result of what she termed "refusal by the board to meet with the teachers and negotiate in good faith."

Perhaps a measure of this unity is the revelation Monday by the JCTA that it has received the "support of the San Mateo Central Labor Council if concerted action is necessary to reach agreement in the negotiations between the JCTA and the Jefferson Elementary School Board."

The labor council's sanction was issued on behalf of Local 1481 of the American Federation of Teachers.

In a news dispatch released by the JCTA, John Chronis, president of the Jefferson Elementary District AFT local, is quoted as promising the support of his membership in a strike.

He was quoted as saying, "While the organizational principles of our separate associations may differ, our immediate goal is the same; that is, to improve working and educational conditions for the benefit of teachers and students alike."

The strike sanction, JCTA pointed out, was issued at a labor council meeting last Friday to which Supt. Frank Greenwood also was invited, the news dispatch stated. He did not appear, though teacher representatives presented their viewpoints.

The JCTA represents 380 of the 470 staff members in the Daly City District, Mrs. Hemphill explained. A portion of the staff also belongs to the American Federation of Teachers' Local 1481, an affiliate of the AFL-CIO.

The JCTA voted late last term to strike on the first day of school (September 10) should negotiations on their master agreement proposal collapse without agreement with the Jefferson Elementary School District's Board of Trustees.

Attorney Paul Hupf is the board's negotiating representative.

Mrs. Hemphill said a letter recently mailed to all of the district's 400 teachers pointed out that hundreds of strike posters have been printed, picket captains for the 23 buildings in Daly City have been selected and assigned, plans have been made for door-to-door leaflet distribution to help tell the teachers' story to the community, and strike sanctions have been sought from the San Mateo County Labor Council.

She was critical of the board for "agreeing on minute matters and leaving major educational concerns up in the air."

Although the district reportedly has made an offer of five per cent, plus some fringe benefits, Mrs. Hemphill has emphasized the JCTA's position that it wants district approval of its entire master package.

"Salary is just one portion of the contract proposal," she explained Monday.

The master agreement the teachers seek includes not only personnel salary and fringe benefits, but outlines regulations for teacher discipline and involvement in certain district decisions as well.

"If agreement is not reached," Mrs. Hemphill declared, "there appears to be no alternative open" to teachers but a strike, though she said teachers are still attempting to avert one.

Superintendent Greenwood and others in the district, including trustees, have been following a closed-mouth policy on the negotiations.

Only the teachers have broken the silence. Up to this week's report on progress, the public has been unaware of the extent of the negotiations.

Even so, the teachers have not done more than compile a general outline of progress.

But, on another front, the teachers have been holding a series of koffee klatches in the homes of district residents in an effort to keep parents abreast of the negotiations — what the teachers want and why.

Superintendent Greenwood has on at least two occasions been present at these living room gatherings. One was as recent as Monday, at which both district and teacher viewpoints were voiced in question-and-answer fashion.

Greenwood still hopes, apparently, to reach accord with the group this week. Trustees met with Hupf Tuesday and Greenwood pointed out in the agenda that he was instructed by trustees to place on the agenda "the possible action of adoption of a salary schedule and other fringe benefits, should negotiations be completed as a result of the executive session with the negotiator at 7 p.m."

Teachers are to report to the district, officially, Thursday.

Greenwood last week, challenging a letter from teachers to parents, declared that regardless of the outcome of negotiations, schools would open on schedule, September 10.

According to a "status of negotiations" report from the JCTA, the Board of Trustees has rejected the teacher organization's master agreement concept and is "reluctant" to give teachers a voice in articles involving decision making.

However, the report indicated, there is tentative agreement on nine out of 36 articles.

Western Champs Placed Fifth In Nation

"You were champions when you left and you're champions on your return."

Daly City Mayor Bernard J. (Bud) Lycett welcomed the 16 members of the Broncos All-Star baseball team and their officers with these words during a special session of the council Monday.

The team placed fifth in the United States after dropping two straight games during play-offs in Chesapeake, Va., last month.

They ended the season as champs of the 11 Western states and walked away with five straight wins during play in Albany, Ore., and Renton, Wash.

Mgr. Merced Juarez credited the kids — all between 11 and 12 years old — with showing the finest sportsmanship during the tour.

Stan Wiener, business manager for the team, gave special thanks to Stan Jones, owner of Hunts Donuts in Daly City, for his financial assistance.

"Although Mr. Jones guaranteed our expenses and footed the bill that gave us our start, we still need about $1,500 to pay off bills incurred on the trip," Wiener said. He said the team must look to the community for financial aid in paying off the debt.

Coach Mike Estebez and President Jack Murray likewise thanked Jones and others who sheltered the boys in their homes in Oregon and Washington.

The team took a tour of Washington, D.C., while in the East and visited all memorials, including Arlington National Cemetery and Lincoln Monument.

There are some 1,500 teams in the league throughout the U.S. and as one player, Tim Cusulos, admitted to the council Monday night, "We sure got tired of baseball before the season was over."

The 16 members that make up the Daly City Broncos are: Victor Cardona Robert Baptista John Bologna, Tim Cusulos, Cliff Funseth, Rich Halliday, John Matus, Victor Lopez, Richard Murray, Tony Olea, Carl Alioto, Wyatt Reese, Nick Spang, Mark Washford, Ricky Wyatt and Armono Perez.

D.C. Business License Tax Starts Nov. 1

By FRANK LaPIERRE

Daly City merchants will begin paying the new business license tax on November 1 on all revenues anticipated during the period October 1, 1970 to September 30, 1971.

In a special session Monday the city council read the ordinance for the second time. It becomes law within 30 days.

The council acted swiftly to pass the controversial new law in order to apply it to the upcoming property tax rate bill due this fall.

Many merchants find the law palatable and said they understood it was the only way to shift the property tax burden off the shoulders of homeowners.

But others contend it will drive the small merchant out of business.

The new tax is expected to bring in some $211,000 to offset the increased 1970-71 budget.

Had the tax failed to pass, property owners — large and small — would have been hit with an estimated 18 cent increase on top of their present $1.81 per $100 of assessed valuation.

With the new tax monies this increase has been held to three

ANSWER TO OGREY PETITION:

San Bruno City Manager Scrap 'Political Squabble'

Two answers to San Bruno Planning Commissioner Victor S. Ogrey's petition for writ of mandate to annul the appointment of City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin have been filed in Superior Court in Redwood City. Both ask denial of the petition.

Ronald D. Carter, Menkin's self-paid attorney filed a two-page brief Monday afternoon. Ropers and Majeski, the firm hired by the city to represent the city, Mayor Neil Christal and Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith had theirs filed the middle of last week.

A five-point answer was submitted by Ropers and Majeski, who said Ogrey's petition "is an attempt to engage the courts in what is essentially a political squabble."

Actual points for denial were that Ogrey does not have a sufficient beneficial interest in what he is requesting; that there are other adequate remedies available to Ogrey; that the decision to hire Menkin was a discretionary act of the councilmen, and a writ cannot control the exercise of discretion; that the councilmen are the legislative body of the city and the decision to hire a city manager was a legislative act and a writ of mandate is not applicable to a legislative act; and that Ogrey has not exhausted his remedies beforethecouncil.

Carter's answer adopted all these points submitted by Ropers and Majeski, and he also pointed out that the entire matter is legislative in scope and Menkin is not part of the city's legislative body.

As Carter puts it, Ogrey's theory apparently is that Menkin first must order the councilmen to pay back salary (he has yet to receive) and then be compeled to fire himself as city manager.

Rogers and Majeski, in zeroing in on the "political" aspect, said, "It is apparent from the face of the petition that the petitioner is unhappy with the votes of three of the councilmen on the City Council of San Bruno.

"Petitioner evidently wishes that these three councilmen (Christal, Long and Griffith) would change their votes and decide to 'disemploy' Menkin. If this is petitioner's (Ogrey's) grievance, it is respectfully submitted that the legal remedies of recall and referendum are likewise available to the petitioner.

"Indeed, under the circumstances of the instant case, it is respectfully submitted that this whole matter is patently a 'political question' and therefore eminently suitable for such remedies."

Ropers and Majeski also pointed out it is Ogrey's burden to show that the decision of the

'Molding Opinion'

Overpass Controversy Stirs S.S.F. Citizens

By BOB PETERSON

(See Page 28)

Two South San Francisco citizens groups are locking horns in efforts to sway public opinion on whether to vote for or against a proposed pedestrian overpass at Camaritas and West Orange Avenues.

The proposal will be on the September 15 special election ballot of the San Mateo Junior College District.

Both the Citizens for Responsible Government and the Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety have filed 300 word statements on their position.

Heading the Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety are Barbara Bergero, Gordon Capuro, John Drago and Nancy Hale.

The co-chairmen of the Citizens for Responsible Government are Donald Gamma, Jerry Higgins and Bob Polzoni.

The Citizens for Responsible Government, although organized specifically to fight the proposed overpass, intends to "create pressure on the city council whenever justified."

This group says the overpass proponents are "making false and misleading statements to purposely confuse and deceive the public and voters of South San Francisco."

Through a press release, Citizens for Responsible Government disected the 300 word ballot statement of Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety.

"They pointed out (in the statement) that 'This intersection will involve all pedestrians walking or biking to West Orange Library, parochial school, church, boy's club and new municipal pool.'

"We contend that this statement is misleading," said the release. "There are 47,000 residents of this city and not all of them live in the vicinity of the proposed overpass.

"Furthermore, the engineering firm of DeLeuw, Cather state in their report (which was ignored) that 70 per cent of the pedestrians in that area are oriented to the shopping center which the overpass will not serve."

Continuing on, the Citizens for Responsible Government release said, "They refer to the fact that 'There will be in excess of 20,000 cars using the expressway daily.'

"This is definitely misleading," say overpass opponents. "They (those favoring the overpass) fail to mention in that fact that the 20,000 cars is a projection for the year 1990.

"They also fail to mention that El Camino has twice the amount of vehicular traffic than Westborough Boulevard will have, both now and in the future."

Citizens for Responsible Government point to the statement, "If the overpass were to be constructed at a later date after completion of the expressway (Westborough Boulevard), the cost of the land to the taxpayer will be astronomical."

"This is entirely untrue," said the Citizens for Responsible

Marcus Urges JC District Support

Dr. Sanford A. Marcus of Daly City said Monday he was startled to learn that defeat of San Mateo Junior College District's financing proposals at the polls September 15 would result in a $4-million deficit.

Marcus, who with George McLaughlin heads a citizens' committee trying to "get the facts across" to voters, added that such a deficit would require the "release of 200 faculty members."

He said Skyline College, the North County arm of the district, probably would be hardest hit, since it is the newest campus with a large number of new instructors

There was a positive side to Marcus' concern, too, he pointed out: Approval of the tax rate from 47 cents to 61 cents and of the proposed $2,704,000 bond issue could pave the way for receipt of $2½ million in matching federal funds.

Marcus, who has been a longtime advocate of university education, said he is supporting the CSM proposals because he sees a future with few educational

Bank Evacuated

Piggy Bank, Not Bomb In Mysterious DC Box

Police evacuated the Bank of America building at 6298 Mission street in Daly City Monday after a metal box was spotted under a counter in the main lobby of the bank shortly after noon.

Police captain David Hansen ordered six customers out of the structure and some 15 bank employees into a vault-like room under the building to safeguard them in case the mysterious box contained a bomb.

Although he felt the box was harmless, Captain Hansen said later "I wasn't going to take any chances."

Bomb squad personnel led by officer Steve Steen gingerly approached the box and removed it to a safe area where they opened it.

Inside was a child's leather piggy bank.

Police suspect someone with a warped sense of humor left the box containing the pig inside the bank.

2 Runaway Girls Found, Call Is Hoax

Two runaway San Bruno girls, subject to an intensive search after one of them was reported to have been killed, returned home safely Thursday.

Sharon G. Pineda 15, of 579 Fourth Avenue, and Morena Monterosa, 13, of 713 Olive Court, walked into the San Bruno police station at 2:15 p.m. Thursday.

Both girls had been missing since noon Monday when they told their parents they were going to a school for a youth group meeting.

A search for the teen-agers was launched Wednesday night when an anonymous male caller telephoned Jesus P. Pineda, telling the father that, "If you are looking for your daughter, you ought to look at San Gregorio Beach. I have beaten two of them, buried one, and two have escaped."

Pineda called police, who notified the sheriff's office. Deputies Gary Actos and Italo Ferrari, along with the fathers of the two girls, searched the beach area for much of the night, finding no trace of the teen-agers.

Assistant Sheriff Eugene Stewart said Thursday that he was inclined to treat the call as a hoax since the two who "escaped" had not contacted authorities.

When the girls walked into the police station Thursday with Miss Monterosa's brother they told officers they had been afraid to go home.

Police nevertheless notified the parents and the fathers took their daughters home.

There was no report from police concerning where the girls had spent the three days.

Greyhound Bus Pact

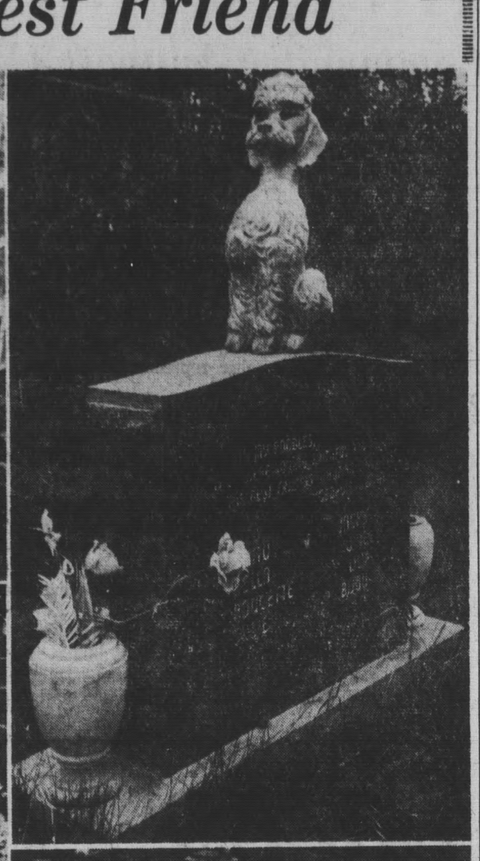
An agreement with Greyhound has been authorized by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

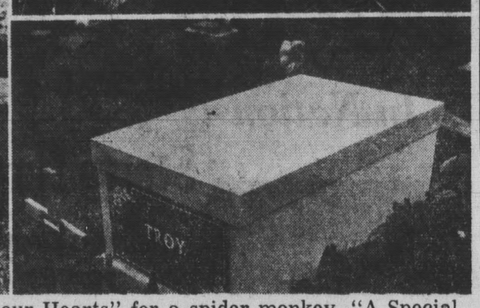
A pact with the Jefferson High School District was also approved.

Greyhound will charge $29.50 a day for each bus, plus $3.50 a day for buses used on field trips, reported Superintendent Frank Greenwood last week.

"The high school district and the elementary district shall furnish transportation for each others' pupils, as needed," he said.

Remembering Man's Best Friend





A FINAL RESTING PLACE for deceased pets is provided by Pets Rest Cemetery and Crematory for Pet Animals in Colma. Thousands of animals, large and small, are often visited by their former owners and masters. Shown are some of the remembrances and headstones provided by them. Other epitaphs include "Butch—Always in our Hearts" for a spider monkey, "A Special Friend—Honey" and "Our Beloved Pronto" as well as various icons and statuettes depicting various members of the animal world. 'Something A Person Is Fond Of'

By FRANK LaPIERRE

There is a quiet, tree-shaded final resting place off Hillside Boulevard in Colma where many folks periodically stop by and visit with their departed loved ones.

They leave flowers by the dozen—more than any other cemetery in the area, it is said.

And the tears they shed are genuine.

For in life their loved ones stuck by them when others turned away.

Indeed, the remains interred there were on "Man's best friend." As often as not they were the best friend of their master regardless if it was a man or woman.

The Pets' Rest Cemetery owned and operated by Earl and Julia Taylor, and managed by Earl Taylor Jr., is not unique in this country. There are thousands of similar places throughout the land.

What is unusual, however, is the lasting loyalty and devotion of pet owners who have laid to rest everything from their pet dogs to a horse here.

Included in the more than 10,000 pets at the cemetery is a mountain lion, ocelots, a skunk, goldfish, monkeys, cats and canaries.

"A pet is something a person is fond of . . . it doesn't make a hoot what kind of animal it is," one mourner explained at graveside.

He wasn't joking, or "putting on" about his loss.

For there is a certain sincerity about the place with its stone monuments—some modest, others extravagant.

There is even a tomb for a beloved pet.

At the rear of the office building is a small crematorium and vaults where ashes are sealed with the names of the animals (usually small birds) inscribed on the door.

A "potters field" for pets, where a person on a tight budget can bury his pet for $10 is available.

Normally a redwood box, grave and tax comes to $85.25—little enough for a long-time friend who passed on before the owner.

There are simple epitaphs, too

One master asked his canine friend to "Wait in peace until one day when we will walk the fields again together."

Chamber Manager Meets City Chiefs

San Bruno's new chamber of commerce manager Gerald Chandler, 37, met approximately 50 of the city's business and civic leaders Thursday at a luncheon in his honor.

Chandler is scheduled to begin his duties at San Bruno September 8, replacing Christopher (Kit) Menkin, now the city manager.

Chamber President Don Risso introduced Chandler at a luncheon at Russo's Restaurant and spoke very briefly, as did members Norman Merkle and Jim Faverman.

Chandler said he was "overwhelmed" at the turnout for the luncheon, adding he expected that many at all chamber sessions.

"I know some of the major problems of the city," said Chandler. "Like the dirt haul."

He then gave a brief description of his philosophy of operation.

"We (he chamber) are a community development corporation," he said. "This includes not only development of the community as such, but the people, the education — community development in every sense of the word.

"We (the chamber) intend to make this the finest place to live, to work and to go to school." Chandler said he was looking forward to working closely with Skyline College. He said he also would seek better cooperation and more membership from the airport.

Merkle, with the Federal Aviation Agency and a chamber director, assured that "Cooperation with the airport has been outstanding and there's no reason why it won't continue." He noted that the Hilton was the first airport-related hotel to join the chamber and indicated the push was on to get more members.

Merkle also aimed a few remarks at the upcoming Aviation Appreciation Week in October. He said plans are to attempt to have the director of supersonic transportation in Washington, D.C. at the ceremonies.

PEACOCK SHOT

Daly City resident Dorothy Cimino of 346 Irvington Street last week reported to police the shooting of her peacock in the neck.

Jefferson Elementary Registration

Students who are new to the Jefferson Elementary School district may be registered either September 4 or on the opening day of school, September 10, Dr. Vinton Stratton, associate superintendent, announced today.

Stratton said the district anticipates an enrollment of 9800 in kindergarten through eighth grade.

Teachers will report in on Monday for five days of orientation.

Principals and consultants have been back on the job since August 17, including Carroll (Skip) Martindale, who has returned to George Washington School after a year's sabbatical leave in Europe.

Dennis Huajardo, who served as Washington interim principal assumes the principalship of Daniel Webster School, replacing Mrs. Louine Bostwick, who retired in June.

Fire Guts Garage In Daly City

An old, nearly solid concrete garage was gutted by fire, and its contents reduced to "one big rubbish pile" early Friday in Daly City.

Fire Capt. Charles Christian said the structure occupies a piece of property on which all other buildings were removed years ago.

The fire, of undetermined origin, destroyed mattresses, bureaus, old tires, and other items, Christian said. The garage was of 1920-25 vintage — narrow, "model-T size," he said.

The garage walls and roof are made of concrete, and the wooden door was clad with metal on the outside.

The garage is located across the street from 138 Santa Barabara, next to where an old house once stood, and where concrete steps still exist.

Firemen were at the scene nearly two hours after extinguishing the fire with a booster line and overhauling wit a two-inch line.

An unidentified citizen reported the blaze at 2:15 a.m.

Orientation

Freshman orientation at Jefferson High School in Daly City will be on September 10, the first day of school, in the school cafeteria.

The other Daly City high schools — Westmoor and Serramonte — are holding their orientations on September 3.

Jefferson's students will begin registration at 8:30 a.m. September 10 in the gymnasium, Dion Dubois, assistant principal-guidance pointed out.

SCOPE

Yearly renewal of the Jefferson Elementary School District's Title I Project, SCOPE, at Woodrow Wilson School in Daly City has been authorized by the Board of Trustees,

The application, based on the latest state figures on the district's entitlement, will be for $96,107, the same as received last year, according to Associate Supt. Dr. Vinton Stratton.

Defense Attacks State Case Against St. Clair

By FRANK LaPIERRE

The State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board has failed to prove its case against San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair during a hearing into charges the former football star lied in applying for renewal of a liquor license in 1965, his attorneys declared Friday.

Attys. Joseph Dignan and Francis Yee asked Hearing Officer E. A. McDonnell to suppress all evidence offered against their client based on the fourth, fifth, sixth and 14th amendments to the U.S. Constitution, claiming many of the documents presented during the three-day hearing were obtained from illegal search and seizure methods.

Prosecuting Atty. Stewart Judson later told the press his investigators "acted in complete accord with its Legislative mandate."

He said the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board is authorized to conduct investigations into the applicant and other persons that might be connected with the liquor license.

Judson commented that persons apply and accept liquor licenses knowing full well they are giving applied consent to these practices.

Written arguments will be submitted within 15 days by the prosecutor and replied to within 30 days by St. Clair's attorneys.

The week-long hearing centered around allegations that St. Clair was in the retail liquor business at 3900 24th Street, San Francisco, with a "silent partner" named George Sack.

Throughout the week St. Clair denied having any partnership in his liquor store subsequent to 1965, when he borrowed money from banks and friends to buy out developer Gus Piedemonte and George Brooks, partners in four liquor stores in Daly City and San Francisco.

He said he met George Sack at a social event in the early 1960s and a friendship developed.

As St. Clair was away from his liquor store subsequent to 1965, Sack obliged him by helping out.

Judson asked St. Clair — on the stand for the second day — what kind of work Sack did around the store and when he came in to do it.

St. Clair replied Sack would sometimes come in on weekends or nights to help him stock the shelves, make out simple bookkeeping ledgers and sign checks.

As the years and his political life became more demanding, Sack assumed more responsibilities around the store, still coming in evenings and weekends.

During this period Sack was employed by Max Sobel Wholesale Liquors as an outside salesman. St. Clair purchased much of his liquor line from Sobel thourgh Sack "because he carries a large line — just about everything I needed."

Judson continued to paint a picture of St. Clair's financial plight during the early months when he took over sole ownership of the license.

The State brought out documents and witnesses in an attempt to prove Sack had invested funds in the store and was sharing in the profits.

St. Clair himself readily admitted from the witness stand he was in financial trouble when he decided to buy out Piedemonte and Brookes.

And the reason he did not list loans from friends, such as Daly City Parks Supt. Augie Conci, Realtor Lou Poletti of South San Francisco, the 49er football club and Sack, was because "they were personal loans."

He said he did not consider "personal loans" the same as "business loans" made at a bank or other lending institution.

St. Clair's attorneys charge the evidence was stacked against their client and was gathered through illegal search and seizure methods employed by the State.

They cited the fact that the initial complaint lodged against St. Clair was illegal "pooling practices," where a retail liquor store buys a large volume of liquors taking advantage of a cut price and resells at a mark up to other liquor stores.

Instead of bringing these charges against St. Clair, the State changed course and went after an alleged partnership between St. Clair and Sack, Atty. Yee explained.

"They've failed to prove their case all the way around on these charges," Atty. Dignan said outside the courtroom.

St. Clair on Stand In Liquor Hearing

San Mateo County Supervisor Robert St. Clair took the stand in his own defense during second day hearings into his alleged "silent partnership" with former wholesale liquor distributor George Sack.

The former 49er football star steadfastly denied he had ever made a fraudulent application for a liquor license in 1965 or had ever entered into a partnership with Sack.

He said Sack, who took the stand on the first day of the hearings August 24 and likewise denied he was a partner in "St. Clair Liquors," was merely a "very good friend" who had from time to time loaned his financially plagued business money.

But St. Clair readily admitted a partnership did indeed exist between himself and Sack, subsequent to 1969, when the two purchased a building at the corner of Sanchez and 24th Streets in San Francisco's Mission district—present site of St. Clair's Liquors.

Why did Sack head the real estate deal instead of St. Clair himself? defense attorney Joseph Dignan asked realtor Edward Rickenbacher, agent in the sale of the South San Francisco property.

"We felt if St. Clair tried to purchase the (3900 24th Street) site the price would have been jacked up," the realtor answered.

As it was, St. Clair's final offer of $59,500 for the property was accepted and the application went into escrow with the name of George and Patricia Sack. After the close of escrow, the names of Robert and Ann St. Clair were added.

This accounted for the periodic checks St. Clair made out to Sack — repayment for various loans made to St. Clair by Sack over the years, it was explained.

St. Clair further contended there was never any formal agreement on repayment of the "friendly loans."

Asked if he had ever borrowed from other persons in the operation of his business St. Clair explained that he had "borrowed considerably" following disolvement of his partnership with Gud Piedemonte and George Brooks in three other liquor stores in Westlake and San Francisco.

Included in the list of lenders were Daly City Parks superintendent Augie Conci ($6,500); the 49er football club (about $2,500); a "Mr. Poletti" of South San Francisco (some $2,000); and; assumption of an existing Bank of America loan in the sum of $4,000.

The money was needed to "buy out" his two partners and assume 100 per cent of the liquor license.

With the buying out of the partners, St. Clair assumed the company's debts.

"Paying off those debts nearly wiped me out," he told Hearing Officer E. A. McDonnell.

Defense Attys. Dignan and Francis brought out the fact that the State Board of Equalization and Alcohol Beverage Control Board had thoroughly investigated St. Clair's applications over the years and approved them.

Prosecutor Stewart Judson has been attempting for two days to substantiate a partnership exists between St. Clair and Sack, contrary to ABC Board regulations.

Sack previously was employed as a wholesale liquor salesman by Max Sobel Distributors and made calls on the St. Clair firm.

St. Clair said he had first met Sack at a social event and a friendship developed.

"I completely trust George Sack," St. Clair informed the hearing, "and I authorized him to sign certain checks for me."

The final hearing day is scheduled for Friday starting at 9 a.m. in the State Building, San Francisco.

Girl, 15, Calmly Saves Family From House Fire

A 15-year-old babysitter, with relative calm August 25, hustled five children including a four-year-old boy to safety and then extinguished a blazing grease fire in a smokey kitchen in San Bruno.

Fire Marshal Harper Peterson had high praise for the girl, Maureen Alley, who lives with the Edward Baus family at 533 Maple Avenue.

"She seemed to be pretty well composed," Peterson said, "and there were five kids involved in this."

He said the girl had placed a pan of grease on the stove for use in making popcorn. She did not leave the kitchen, so when the grease suddenly caught fire she was able to minimize the damage.

"She reacted pretty fast," Peterson said. "She was right by the table in the kitchen and discovered the fire soon enough to at least get the kids out and stop a lot of damage."

Miss Alley, unable to turn off the stove because of the flame, ran into the living room and told four youngsters there to get outside, quickly, and go next door to call firemen.

Then, she dashed into a bedroom, grabbed sleeping Bill Baus, 4, off his bed, and ran outside with him.

She then darted back into the smoke-filled house, located some baking soda — she'd learned that in a Soquel High School home economics class, Peterson explained — and dumped it on the flame.

The fire was out when firemen arrived.

Damage probably will run to "several hundred" dollars, the fire marshall said.

Others in the home at the time were Tammy Baus, 10; Debbie Baus, 8; Patrick Creeley, 8, 527 Maple; and Jay Buchanan, 8, 525 Maple.

District Attorney, Police Stage Coast Pinball Raid

District attorney's inspectors and Pacifica police officers swept down on four Pacifica restaurants and taverns Wednesday afternoon and evening and took eight persons into custdy to climax several weeks investigation of alleged payoffs from illegal pinball machines.

Warrants have been issued for three additional persons, District Attorney Keith C. Sorenson said this morning.

Raided after district attorney inspectors, posing as customers, were reportedly paid off in cash after winning pinball games were Al's Cafe at 1604 Palmetto Avenue, Moore's Truck Stop at 4430 Cabrillo Highway in the Rockaway Beach area, Winter's Tavern at 1522 Francisco Boulevard and the Linda Mar Lodge at 1249 Linda Mar Boulevard in the Linda Mar Shopping Center.

Identified as owners of licensees of the establishment were Bob Sohl of Al's Cafe, Louise and William Moore of Moore's Truck Stop, Leonard Girard and Fred Plate of Winter's Tavern, and Gladys Kennedy of the Linda Mar Lodge.

Others arrested or sought are Mary Dominguez of 395 Lakeview, employed at Moore's Truck Stop; John Risinger of 212 Lauren and Vernon Regan of 24 Ortega, at Al's Cafe, and Guy Thomas Battaglia of 1650 Toledo and David Welch of the Linda Mar Lodge. All are Pacifica residents.

Those who have had arrest warrants against them but not taken into custody August 26 are Mrs. Kennedy, Welch and William Moore.

District Engineer Hart Asks Citizens Be Patient On Dirt Hauls In San Bruno

By BOB PETERSON

If San Brunans could have a little patience with dirt haul for approximately another month city streets will no longer be used for that purpose.

This in essence is what Alan S. Hart, district engineer State Division of Highways, said yesterday during an appearance before the South San Francisco Chamber of Commerce.

According to Hart, the present dirt haul going through San Bruno Chamber of Commerce.

According to Hart, the present dirt haul going through San Bruno from Pacifica should take approximately one month. No more dirt hauls are scheduled immediately. And by the time others are scheduled Interstate 380 will be constructed to the point where it will serve as the roadway to handle the trucks.

This factor was one of several brought out by Hart during a luncheon at the New Southern Restaurant. He said the interstate "stub" to serve the airport will not be completed before 1972.

Hart used the majority of his speaking time telling of the merits of highways, without knocking rapid transit.

"To depend on BARTD for the one form of transportation is just kidding yourself," said Hart. "We (Americans) gave up on fixed transit years ago, like we gave up on the horse and buggy.

"Mobility and freedom is what has made California what it is today. True, we need a cleaner engine. But whatever they come up with in the future for transportation, it'll have four wheels and a box. Channeling resistance for the automobile against the highways is wrong," said Hart. "Pollution must be solved with a different type of engine."

He spoke briefly on the El Camino widening project.

But no mention was made of South San Francisco's position regarding Interstate 380 as to whether the new freeway will hook up to Harbor Way to serve the city's industrial area.

Guests at the luncheon included Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilmen William Borba and Frank Bertucelli.

IT'S A FACT

By JACK WILSON

SENATOR MURPHY

I am unconditionally 100 per cent behind Senator George Murphy who has introduced, authored or co-authored bills on tax sharing, education, air pollution ("Murphy Ammendment"-Smog Control), water pollution (Clean Water Restoration Act 1966), agriculture, drug abuse (stronger laws against pushers) and human rights.

Where does McCloskey really stand when he says he is "repelled" at the idea of his accepting money from a private company and continues to say, "... I will support Senator Murphy in this campaign, although I think John Tunney is a fine congressman and would make a fine senator."

Senator Dirkson has stated that 80% of the Congressmen belong to law firms or other corporations.

This Mr. Tunney that Mr. McCloskey says is such a "fine congressman" has the lowest attendance and voting record (49%) in the entire Congress except for those excused for illness. It is reported that he was one of those who were in favor of sending blood to the Viet Cong and that he is a carpet bagger.

Jeff Elementary School Lunches Will Cost More

By WILL THOMAS

Students and teachers will pay more for their cafeteria lunches in the Jefferson Elementary School District this term and taxpayers will pay more to get the whole lunch program out of its financial doldrums.

Trustees of the 21-school Daly City district agreed to recommendations by Superintendent Frank Greenwood after an hour-long study session prior to last week's regular meeting and discussion during the session itself.

The cost schedule:

—Kindergarten through sixth grades, 40 cents, an increase of five-cents.

—Intermediate grades (seventh, eighth), 45 cents, up 10 cents.

The changes, designed to improve the central kitchen operation and other food service areas:

—Purchase of one walk-in, pass through refrigeration at central kitchen two double deck convection ovens, five single convection ovens, five 47-cubic-foot commercial refrigerators to be installed at Ben Franklin, Thomas Edison, M. Pauline Brown, Fernando Rivera and John F. Kennedy Schools.

—Establishment of snack bar operations at Fernando Rivera, Ben Franklin and Colma Intermediate.

The cost is estimated by the district at $17,483.

The boost in the cost to students and the teachers who eat hot lunches in the cafeteria hopefully will help erase deficits in the operation — such as the $22,000 loss in the 1969-70 term.

Planners Desire To See A Map

South San Francisco planning commissioners breezed through a short agenda last week, and included an item affecting Daly City.

The commissioners considered the new Serramonte Unit 14 being constructed in Daly City near the South San Francisco boundary.

Commissioners have instructed Director of Planning Dan Pass to write a letter to Daly City informing them that South San Francisco planners wish to review the tentative map for the project.

In other business, the commissioners approved a use permit to establish a senior citizen retirement center — known as Rotary Plaza — on the southwest side of Alida Way, between Country Club Drive and Ponderosa Road.

They approved another use permit, of Park 'n Fly, to locate a 600-foot sign at 101 Terminal Court. Park 'n Fly had earlier been refused construction of a billboard.

Held up by the commissioners was a use permit request of Texaco, Inc., to redevelop an existing service station at the southeast corner of Mission Road and Holly Avenue, pending submission of an improved land use and circulation plan.

Girls Now May Wear Pants To 'Ben'—If They're Not Blue!

Girls attending the Ben Franklin Intermediate School in Daly City may wear pants when classes resume September 10—but not "blue jeans or other types of 'work' clothes."

That is one of the provisions in a modified "dress code" approved by trustees of the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Three changes in the school's general standards guidelines were made at the request of the administration and students, supported by several parents.

In the guideline for boys, hair length no longer is limited to shirt collar length, but it still "should be clean and well groomed."

For girls, extremes in make-up are inappropriate" replaces the rule, "make-up is inappropriate for school, with the exception of lipstick."

Also deleted from the girls' standards is the assertion that "pants are inappropriate for school." Now, "pants are permissible," the code specifies, yet "not blue jeans or other type of 'work clothes"—and no exceptions are to be made.

All the other provisions remain for girls:

—Dresses or skirts should be worn and be long enough to permit modest when sitting.

—Hair style should be moderate, clean and well groomed.

General guidelines for boys and girls:

—Generally, they must exhibit an appearance that is "clean, modest and conducive to classroom and general school safety."

—They should not be allowed to attend classes if their dress or general appearance is determined. to be a source of disturbance to the learning opportunity of others.

—"Bizarre, costume-type apparel and body decoration" are not appropriate, yet students should be "allowed to express their individual tastes in dress."

The district emphasized, however, that the changes apply only to Ben Franklin.

Other schools, such as Colma Intermediate, must file proposed code changes with the trustees, Superintendent Frank Greenwood explained after one parent, Mrs. Pat Hansen, asserted, "If you change the code for Ben Franklin, you'll have to change it at all schools."

Principal Ed McIntosh said he wanted the revised code "operational" at the first day of school.

Board Chairman Ed Tomasello plugged for a "uniform code," noting, "codes that vary at schools begin to create problems."

Trustee Dorothy Adams said she did not see a need for a uniform code as such, inasmuch as "the attitudes of parents from school to school are different."

But, Board Member Joseph Lewkowitz called the uniform code "a lot easier to enforce."

Superintendent Greenwood mentioned violation of individual rights and saw a need for "cooperation" and "acceptance" of guidelines by parents.

Trustee Bill Schumacher said he'd be willing to try it, and Tomasello agreed that the "failure of the last one" made it "obvious" that "something must be done."

Lewkowitz made it clear he was not in favor of mini-skirts, especially worn by teachers, though he described many as young.

He admitted, nonetheless, that "some of them have good looking legs."

Voter Signup Booth In D.C.

North County residents desiring to register to vote in the upcoming November general election may do so daily at the Serramonte Shopping Center mall in Daly City.

Deputy Registrar Helen Villalba has set up a temporary registration station near QFI and Long's Drug.

She is registering voters weekday from 2 to 5 p.m. and 6 to 8 p.m. On Saturdays registration can be accomplished from 2 to 5 p.m., and Mrs. Villalba is there from 1 to 4 p.m. on Sundays, through the September 10 deadline for registering.

Pay Hike Of 7½ Percent Granted SSF Employees

South San Francisco councilmen have granted a 7½ per cent across-the-board-raise to all employes and given firemen a shorter work week while retaining a 91-cent tax rate.

Two matters, however, remain to be settled; mediation on the policemen's request for parity with firemen on their reduced work week, and salary of the city manager, which was not included in the 7½ per cent cost - of - living increase.

It was pointed out that the salary of the city manager has traditionally been handled separately from other employes.

As to the mediation, the policemen's representative and councilmen agreed to this method of determining whether police should get either a reduced work week or monetary compensation to remain on parity with firemen — or nothing at all.

The reduced work week for firemen will require four manhours to implement. It gives the firemen a 56-hour week, rather than their present 60 hours.

This does not mean they work this number of hours every week, only that in the course of a year time put in averages out to a 56-hour week.

Mayor Patrick Ahern noted proudly that the city tax rate has never been raised in the 12 years he's been on the council.

Pacifican Is Robbed

A 21-year-old Pacifica man was robbed of $520 at gunpoint August 26, in a San Bruno parking lot.

Police said Vincent Salvemini, of 1135 Galvez Drive, was confronted at about 8 p.m. in a parking lot at the rear of Artichoke Joe's, 676 San Mateo Avenue.

The victim described his assailant as a white male, 6-foot-2, about 200 pounds, approximately 25 years old and having a Southern accent.

According to police, the bandit, pistol in hand, asked, "Do you have any money?" Salvemini reponded by handing over his wallet, and on request, also gave up a ring on his finger.

Police said the robber was last seen running south on Huntington Avenue.

Bruno City Manager Scrap 'Political Squabble'

councilmen did not entail judgment or discretion, or that there was abuse of discretion.

"It is difficult to conceive of an act more discretionary than the decision to hire those persons who will manage the affairs of a city," said Ropers and Majeski.

"Certainly it cannot be said that a court, through a mandamus petition, could compel a city council to hire one particular person, in other words, to exercise its discretion in one particular manner.

"The petition simply says that the city council itself adopted a certain procedure relative to the hiring of a city manager, namely that all applications solicited would be reviewed before a decision was made on a new city manager."

Ropers and Majeski explained that Ogrey's petition said this was the procedure and it was "set by the council itself" and "was departed from by the council" on a majority vote when they hired Menkin.

"It is readily apparent," said Ropers and Majeski, "that a decision to hire Menkin before the completion of the interview procedure would constitute at law a waiver of the interview procedure. It must be presumed that the majority simply decided to depart from a procedure which the council, by majority vote, had previously decided upon. Certainly it cannot be said that this constitutes an illegal act, or an abuse of discretion."

Ropers and Majeski said that on its face, the petition by Ogrey "is frivolous and totally without merit. The only grounds of attack against Menkin are that he allegedly made 'false statements' in his application of employment; and that he allegedly is unqualified for the position of city manager since he had no prior experience in municipal government affairs.

"The petition fails totally to relate any of the allegedly false statements to any of the requirements or duties associated with the position of city manager. Indded, the petition even fails to set out what false statements are involved. And it should be patently apparent that prior experience in municipal affairs is no mandatory prerequisite to employment as a city manager.

"To say that prior experience in local government is a mandatory prerequisite to employment in local government, such that a city council would be subject to mandate for failure to hire someone with such a background, is absurd both in law and fact."

The Ropers and Majeski answer also pointed out that nothing is said in Ogrey's petition to indicate that the city council of San Bruno, or the councilmen named in the petition, failed to comply with any requirements of law.

"On the contrary" said Ropers and Majeski, "the petition demonstrates that the act of the council was by legal majority vote, that its act was that of hiring a person to fill a managerial post in city government, that this was a legislative act eminently within the discretion of the city council, that discretion of the city council was assumed and exercised, and that there was no basis for a claim that discretion was bused.

"The sole departure set forth in the (Ogrey) petition was a departure not from law, but from a hiring procedure set by the council itself. The petition does not allege that the council did not have the right to depart from the procedure which it, itself, had previously set. To the contrary, the petition alleges that the council by majority vote did decide to depart from that procedure by hiring respondent Menkin. As a matter of law, this cannot constitute an abuse of discretion."

Overpass Controversy Stirs S.S.F. Citizens

Government group. "The city has already acquired the land for the anchor points of the overpass. This land acquisition was made by a unanimous decision of the city council, meeting March 23, 1970."

Citizens for Responsible Government said the statement of Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety "implies" that Louis H. Goss, director of public works, has recommended the overpass.

"Again, they are trying to mislead the public. Public records prove that Mr. Goss concurred with former Police Chief John Fabbri's statement that the decision of the overcrossing should be put off until traffic patterns had been established after the completion of Westborough Boulevard.

"The Citizens for Responsible Government know that the taxpayers are not so gullible as to fall for such misleading statements," says this group's release. "This is a clear cut case of a political boondoggle where $100,000 of the taxpayers money is involved."

Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety, meanwhile, have stated that the question to be answered September 15 is whether this intersection can safely accommodate pedestrians, and 20,000 additional cars a day.

According to Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety, the city councilmen in office in 1967 (which included two of the present council—Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilman Frank Bertucelli) "in response to public concern unanimously voted to include a pedestrian overpass at the intersection of Camaritas and West Orange Avenues when Westborough Boulevard is extended from Junipero Serra Boulevard."

Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety say also that "money for the overpass was set aside in December, 1967, and has earned in excess of $20,000 to date."

The group also pointed out that there will be no tax increase involved to build the overpass.

"Opposition to the overpass did not occur until early this year," said the Citizens Cimmittee for Pedestrian Safety release. "Almost three (3) years after the city and county approved the final plans for the expressway including the construction of the overpass.

"The controversy that has evolved has strayed far afield from the only important question: Will this intersection be safe for pedestrians without the overpass?"

Citizens for Responsible Government apparently feel it will, and continue to refer to the proposed overpass (in its present proposed location) as a "boondoggle."

According to this group, expenditure of $100,000 should be made "only after sensible, level-headed investigation of all facts."

This group at an August 18 meeting with 53 members, "from all areas of South San Francisco in attendance," unanimously agreed they "will not tolerate the unnecessary waste of tax dollars."

The facts according to Citizens for Responsible Government is that the councilmen paid for "expert, unbiased advice and then ignored this expert firm's recommendation that the overpass was not needed.

"Many more dangerous and more heavily traveled intersections of South San Francisco would warrant such a large expenditure for a pedestrian overcrossing, rather than the proposed location," said Citizens for Responsible Government releases.

"Records and data gathered (by the group) show without question that construction of a $100,000 'white elephant' overcrossing at (West) Orange and Camaritas is unnecessary, unneeded un-recommended, badly located and against the advices of traffic experts."

On May 18, on a 3-2 vote the controversial overpass was approved; Mayor Patrick Ahern, Councilmen William Borba and Frank Bertucelli for it and Councilmen Frank Mammini and Warren Steinkamp against it.

The matter was not an agenda item, nor did it come up at a pre-council (4:30 p.m.) session. There was, however, a letter from county engineer and road commissioner Don Wilson concerning eight easement parcels needed for the Westborough Boulevard project. This was an information item.

Borba, however, took this item as an opportunity to make the motion for approval of the overpass.

Earlier, when Andrew Rocca was still a councilman, the city paid $1,500 for professional advice on whether overpasses were necessary.

D.C. Business License Tax Starts Nov. 1

cents, to bring the total city tax rate to $1.81.

The higher budget was caused by increased salaries, city manager David Rowe pointed out during hearings.

The tax is similar in concept to federal income tax breakdowns — a sliding scale based on gross receipts of a business falling into various categories.

As an example, a merchant making $30,000 and less a year would pay $45.

These figures are graduated upwards to the highest gross category which is $45,000,000.01 to $50,000,000.

Merchants doing this high volume of business would pay $4,500 annually.

Presently, all merchants in the city pay a flat $18 regardless if he grosses $100 or a $100 million.

This inequity justified the new tax the city repeatedly stated throughout hearings on the matter.

The majority of big businesses agreed there was an inequity and pushed to give the city some $75,000 per year more than they had asked for in a revised proposal, in order to keep the tax rate down to less than a nickle per $100 assessed valuation.

There are also categories such as junk dealers and solicitors, that pay a flat fee ranging from $20 per day to $100 per year in the new tax.

The tax on rental units in the city will now cost $15 per year plus $3 on each unit over five. The Henry Doelger Corporation maintains some 3,000 units in Daly City and will be paying $9,000 instead of $18 per year.

Excluded from the "gross receipts" will be such things as sales taxes, refunds on purchases made and federal taxes (gasoline).

opportunities unless funds are made available to provide adequate space locally.

He urged "parents in this district who have any aspiration of their youngsters going into college . . . to get behind the proposals with a great deal of fervor."

Without the educational facilities, there exists the possibility, Dr. Marcus declared, that many young people in the near future will be walking the streets, "off the employment rolls and with no educational opportunties."

The physician, who has been active in educational causes in the past said he thought education to be "an imprudent area to draw the line" of economy, even though he realizes, he added, that taxes continue to soar and are burdensome.

What has prompted the junior college district's financial woes is the expiration of a tax increase that made much of its growth possible, according to CSM officials.

Rev. Powers Will Deliver Sunday Talk

The sermon Sunday will be given by Bill Powers at the Broadmoor Presbyterian Church, 377 Eighty-seventh Street, Daly City.

His subject will be "God's Mercy." He will remind the congregation of the verses in Psalm 23:6, "Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life," and that in Lamentations 3:22, "The steadfast love of the Lord never ceases, his mercies never come to an end."

Powers has served as an elder on the session of the church and as chairman of the worship committee and head usher.

At present he and his wife, Dale, are skippers of the Mariners organization of the church. The Mariners are for married couples.

The responsive reading and Scripture will be read by Ruth Hoppin. The responsive reading being the beatitudes in Matthew 5.

Mrs. Hoppin is chairman of the Parish Communicant Education Bible study groups of the church. Presiding for the worship service will be John Rued. Rued also has been an elder on the session, clerk of session and superintendent of the Sunday school.

The pastor of the church, the Rev. Herbert C. Tweedie, welcomed the public to this service.

Four Boys Arrested

Four boys, ranging in age from 11 to 15 years old, were arrested at their homes Saturday night in Daly City and charged with the burglary of a neighbor's home.

Police did not reveal the youths' names because of their ages, however, they did disclose the youths all lived in the neighborhood of their victim—Nancy Bauer at 169 Mirada Drive.

The victim's garage was broken into on August 26 and tool and a bicycle seat stolen.

A neighbor spotted the suspect's forcing their way into the garage through a wall vent and subsequent police work led to their arrest, a spokesman said.

The parks will be supervised during the following hours: Monday-Sunday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Monday-Friday, inclusive: 6 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. until Daylight Savings Time ends.

The War Memorial Community Center will be supervised Monday-Friday, 10 to 5 p.m., and Monday-Friday inclusive, 7 to 9 p.m.

During the interim period the school maintenance forces refurbish and clean areas utilized by recreation programs.

Youth Rally At Church In S. Bruno

A rally will feature Guy Rowe, former Youth for Christ director in San Francisco at Calvary Community Church, San Bruno.

He serves as minister of youth at Melodyland Christian Center near Disneyland.

Besides having a busy schedule as youth minister, he also has his own radio program, "Rap Line," a discussion type program especially for youth.

He goes to different schools nearly every week, "rapping" with the kids there, sometimes in assemblies or just in classrooms.

He talks on anything, from abortion to prostitution to drug and sex problems or religion itself often using a format of rapping rather than "preaching" to the youth of today. He feels they want someone to rap with, not someone to preach at them.

Also featured at the rally will be the Californians, a singing group from Fresno.

SPECIALIST-4 Randy Chalmers of Daly City has received the Army's Commendation Medal, the First Oak Leaf Cluster and the Army Commendation Medal for Heroism, according to his parents, who live at 162 Crocker Avenue. The citations came as a result of Chalmer's conduct during hostile action in Vietnam last May when U.S. troopers were under intense mortar, rocket and ground attack in Landing Zone Oasis. Chalmers presently is on assignment with the 52d Artillery in Germany.

PROJECT DECISION

South San Francisco apparently has pinned down the Corps of Engineers as to a decision on whether a flood control project on Colma Creek will be financed by the Corps.

According to City Mgr. Tom McKenzie, who, along with city engineers, met recently with officials of the Corps of Engineers, the Corps will meet on November 18 to make the long sought decision.

Louanne Heath's Datebook

We have received the official news, and from no less person than Barbara Williams, secretary to Sierra County's district attorney and State Superior Court Judge elect Gordon Smith. Following careful observation of the squirrels and inspection of the acorns and the pine cone crop the verdict is for an early and hard winter.

How accurate the prediction is only time can tell, but we have noticed that the evenings are cooling earlier and that the electric blanket feels good toward morning. Our maple trees have begun to turn and the loveliest colors in the forest are being worn by the Poison Oak plants. The orange and scarlet poison oak leaves have a beauty that belies their treacherous nature and we admire them from afar.

This is a melacholy time for all. The chores that lead to the closing of the mine and the securing of the cabin for the wet weather ahead are not pleasant but some of the things which must be done before we leave are fun. For our family hiking is always enjoyable.

Yesterday, accompanied by Aubrey and Freda Spark, long time helpmates and friends, we set out to find and mark the property boundaries, recently resurveyed for us by James Batten of Downeyville.

What is perfectly obvious to one accustomed to surveying the land is most obscure to others. Batten assured us that the corners are well marked with iron rods and rock monuments, we have his map and we know, roughly where the lines should run.

This was our third foray into the thick brush and woods to find the markers. Yesterday, Aubrey's sharp eyes picked out three scrapes of orange tape fluttering in the breeze and that set us off on an uphill climb over rock and shale to find the corner. Finally, out of water and extremely tired, we had to give up and head homeward, corner markers still not located.

It's frustrating to be so near, yet so blind to that which we must find when other things are perfectly clear. We noticed all the old apple trees failed to bear any fruit this season and they, along with the plum brush won't afford the deer and the bear any feed this fall.

We noticed that the springs have dried up earlier than usual and one little water snake was scurrying along through the rocks seeking moisture from somewhere just below the surface.

Craig found some old square nails and Freda spotted a new sandy hollow where the river had washed back behind the trees early in the spring. Mother found a clump of wild violet just ready to bloom and Kevin found what appears to be an egg beater of unknown, but venerable vintage. How can corner markers be so elusive when so many other things catch our attention immediately?

Before we lock up and return we'll have to go back again. The corners must be posted. Next time, we will have to pay more attention to survey lines and less to all the exciting things that our mountains hold.

Barbara Bladen

THE MARQUEE

Dame Understands Dane

It shouldn't come as a surprise that Dame Judith Anderson is playing Hamlet for American Conservatory Theater. She's thought about it for 20 years, and if you know anything about her you'll figure she'd get around to it eventually. Besides, it's been played by a score of women before and ACT director Bill Ball has had a half dozen conceptions of the Bard's greatest tragedy, only two of which he's already staged.

The gracious, very elegant, renowned actress began rehearsals Monday; and San Francisco never had it so good. She's working out day after day, like putty in the hands of our repertory theater founder's hands, although at luncheon last week, he insisted that it would be the Hamlet conceived by Dame Judith, with only suggestions offered by him.

Producer Paul Gregory, who has not been in S.F. with a play since 1963 has negotiated with ACT to present the famous actress in this classic drama that is scheduled to play 88 cities in 23 weeks, 80 per cent of which are college campuses.

"After all, it's the greatest play and the greatest part ever written. I don't see theater today but youth worry me terribly. They're dying for greatness, so this is my response. I felt it must be done. There a few leaves on the old tree yet," the diminutive Australian explained.

"We've had tremendous response from the colleges, and some think we've already opened and called to say they heard it was marvelous. We simply say that's nice, but it hasn't opened yet," Gregory added.

"IT REMAINS TO BE seen if I can be convincing as Hamlet. I'm putting my whole life in the hands of Bill Ball to make me into something I'm not. It doesn't occur to me to be a woman in boys clothing, only Hamlet," the illustrious personality offered.

"We'll dispense with costume and concentrate on the words and music of Shakespeare," Ball injected.

"If the audience thinks they'll get a lot of visual spectacle, they'll sit back, relax and watch. I plan to rob the stage of all that and concentrate on words. Hamlet will be dressed all in black and everyone else will be in garnet red. And no props. You'll have to image swords and cups and books. Orick's skull will be seen because he's a person, or was, and not a prop. People who have to die will simply turn their back to the audience. It will be essentially Shakespeare's stage directions," Ball explained.

GREGORY CONSIDERS Ball a conductor, and voiced strong confidence in him as a director. The project had been proposed to Dame Judith many times before, but it wasn't until she viewed Ball's production of "Six Characters In Search of an Author" and "Oedipus Rex" that she felt all the elements were right for her to do "Hamlet."

She'd played Gertrude to Sir John Gielgud's "Hamlet" in 1936, and watched him in action many times since. Ball played "Rosecrantz or Guildenstern" claiming he never could remember "which was which" on Broadway opposite Siobhan McKenna as "Hamlet." Other women who have taken the melancholy Dane to their minds and hearts were Sarah Bernhardt, Astrid Nilsson, Eva Le Gallienne, Mrs. Siddon, Charlotte Cushman, Elizabeth Bergner. All in all, over the years, Dame Judith Anderson is the tenth woman to assay the role.

THE SARGENT HOFFMANS (Judith Krebs)

Miss Krebs Weds Sargent Hoffman

Davis, where the bridegroom is studying engineering at the University of California, is the first home for Mr. and Mrs. Sargent Glenn Hoffman II (Judith Anne Krebs).

The couple was married recently at St. Dunstan's Church and received felicitations at the South San Francisco Rod and Gun Club. They honeymooned in Victoria, Vancouver, Banff, and Lake Louise.

Judith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Harrison Krebs of Millbrae, wore a candlelight faille dress with bodice and sleeves of chantilly lace. The same lace was used on the skirt and train and edged both.

Roberta Kirk and Rita Barranti, were the honor attendants, and bridemaids were Leslie Santos, the bridegroom's sister, Cindy Simmons, and Mary Carlson. They all wore coral chiffon dresses with long bell sleeves and full, draped skirts.

Mark Carlson was best man for Sargent, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sargent Glenn Hoffman Jr. of Chico. Ushers were John Hoffman and Leigh Hoffman, brothers of the bridegroom, Hugh Santos, and James Stevens.

The new matron attended Mills High School and the College of San Mateo. Her husband attended Durham High School and spent 19 months in Vietnam with the Air Force.

Coast Jaycettes Slate Benefit Fashion Show

The Pacifica Jaycettes are working on their luncheon and fashion show slated to benefit Pacifica young people.

The luncheon, scheduled for September 15 at 12 noon, will be the beginning of a new project for these Jaycee wives — building a scholarship fund for graduating Pacifica high school students who want to attend a local junior college.

The Jaycettes hope there are other women in the community who would like to help, too, by attending the luncheon and fashion show.

Chairman Brenda King said expense will be at a minimum. Luncheon tickets are $1 — Ladies Luncheon League is providing the food at no cost to the Jaycettes, and producers' samples will be given away.

The festivities will be held at St. Andrews United Presbyterian Church, 1031 Valencia Way, Pacifica. Free, supervised babysitting will be provided. For tickets and information, contact Brenda King; Joan McLain or Jaycette president Judy Lemler.

Women's Club Meeting In SSF

THE POST'S Family Forum

The South San Francisco Woman's Club at noon Thursday will celebrate the opening of the club year with a potluck luncheon for all members and guests.

All attending are requested to take a copy of their favorite recipe to this meeting.

Program is a general presentation by all members of all exciting, interesting or "run - of - the - mill" activities they participated in or saw during the summer vacation.

At this meeting, First Vice-President Mrs. Fred Ingle will offer her committee's plans for programs and special features for the coming Club Year.

Machinist Is Charged With Felony

Clyde E. Gibson, 46-year-old machinist of 15 Westfield Avenue, Daly City, was being held Monday on a felony drunken driving charge.

Gibson was arrested Saturday afternoon after his car allegedly struck and severely injured a bicyclist on Skyline Boulevard near Westridge Avenue Daly City.

The victim, Thomas Arthur Miller, 18, of 3 Santa Elena Avenue, Daly City, underwent extensive surgery at Mary's Help Hospital and was reported in satisfactory condition there today.

Highway patrolman said Miller, a post office janitor, was riding his bicycle on the shoulder of the highway when the sedan driven by Gibson veered off of the roadway, hit the bike and hurled the victim into the air.

Gibson was held in county jail in lieu of $12,500 bail during the weekend pending arraignment today in Municipal Court in South San Francisco.

Hits Same Place Twice?

A woman matching the description of the person who held up the Colonial Savings & Loan offices at 7070 Mission Street two weeks Friday, held up the same offices and fled with some $400.

In the earlier robbery she grabbed some $800 and made good her escape in an expensive car parked nearby.

Colonial teller Linda Hansen told police she thought the woman who walked into the savings and loan office shortly after 3:30 p.m., Friday, and demanded money from teller Linda Callaber was the same person who held her up before.

Miss Hansen chased the suspect on foot for two blocks before losing sight of her after rounding a corner on Moltke Street.

Trailer Is Burglarized

A house trailer parked at the rear of the Cow Palace in Daly City and owned by a member of the Ringling Brothers, Barnum & Bailey Circus troupe was broken into Sunday night and an estimated $895 in cash stolen.

Along with the cash, an income tax return check for $650 was also stolen.

An unidentified witness said he spotted a boy about 15 years old wearing an afro-haircut in the vicinity of the trailer home shortly before the robbery was discovered.

Alena Kaiser of Venice, Florida, told police the money was mostly in $100 bills.

All That Work For 50 Cents

Burglars that broke into the Daly City Coffee Shop at 6339 Mission Street over the weekend won't be able to retire on their "take."

Counting all the pennies, they made about 50 cents.

And they had to force their way through a heavy rear door to do that.

Say Anything...Except About Food, Cable Cars

LE PACINI

Sportscripts

WE'VE OFTEN BEEN TOLD that you can say almost anything you want about San Franciscans, but that, like religion and politics, you should lay off their cable cars and their food. We never really believed that until we did that column two weeks ago on the poor concession service at Candlestick.

"Unofficially," we have since heard that the column has caused a few people in the Giant front office to be quite upset with yours truly. We cannot understand why the column should have upset anybody but the man representing Stevens' California Enterprises at Candlestick, whose name we will not mention because we have a lot of class.

Although it wasn't in the column, except by implication, we had hoped that the readers would understand — and we emphasize this — that we in no way were knocking Giant management in general or Horace Stoneham in particular.

We couldn't hold Stoneham personally responsible for the concessionnaire anymore than we can hold him responsible for some of the funny things about the stadium in which his team plays.

Lord knows, the City of San Francisco has stuck Mr. Stoneham good too often for us to add to his miseries with misdirected salvos of self-pity. As any regular reader of this column knows, we've always supported Giant management and have repeatedly called Horace Stoneham one of the best owners in baseball.

THIS FOLLOW-UP is in no way a defense of what we said about Stevens' service. The truth is indefensible. We are running the thing through the mill again because approximately 350 words of the original piece were cut because our ramblings ran into space problems that particular week.

What was cut, we think, was fairly important, because it explained how we didn't write the column in anger over an isolated incident (something of which we were accused) because we softened the blow against Stevens somewhat by placing some of the blame on the architect, and because a piece of light verse in the original version mentioned something about Oakland which was elaborated upon in the deleted section.

Thus, for the purposes of clarity and better understanding, we offer, in part, the left-overs of that column:

"We hope the reader doesn't believe that our turkey sandwich incident was an isolated case and that we're merely venting our venom in a fit of personal pix (if you like that sentence, keep reading). We'd say, considering all previous personal experiences and those of others, that it was typical, and that it just happened to be the cliche straw that broke the columnist's back.

"OF COURSE WE ARE INDIGNANT. When one pays four dollars for a seat to a ball game, one should have the stadium conveniences as conveniently located to his seat as they are to other four dollar seats. Why should a box seat ticketholder behind home plate have to walk, say, one fifth as far to get a turkey sandwich as a box seat holder down the right field foul line? Why should ANYBODY have to look all over hell for the ONE hamburger stand, the ONE sandwich stand, the ONE place where he can get a candy bar?

"We realize, of course, that the architect had something to do with it. But the fact that John Bolles knows as much about designing a baseball stadium as Minnesota Fats knows about dieting shouldn't cause eternal suffering for fans who like to eat at ball games. Stevens should accomodate the fan with portable concession stands if it must.

"Oh, we could go on. We haven't even touched on the "outside" vendors yet; on the fact, for instance, that beer is sold the entire game, but if a kid wants a bottle of soda pop after the sixth inning he's out of luck because the soda pop vendors disappear in those magic last three innings.

"If the Stevens people don't think a concessions company can be competent to handle any size crowds, they should — and we hate to admit this — scout the Oakland Coliseum operation. There are concessions stands seemingly every 30 feet, they all carry ALL of the available food stuffs, are ALL adequately manned, and if one must stand in line the stadium has been designed so that one can watch the ball bame as he waits.

"There is, however, rarely a wait. We were there recently in a crowd of 20,000 and twice procured hot dogs between innings without missing a play. And that doesn't mean we had to watch from a line. We were BACK in our seat before the first pitch of the next inning . . ."

BUT LET US LIGHTEN SOMEWHAT this discussion of concessions and vendors with the following verse:

We all know of endurance records,
But to you we'd like to render,
A very little known one,
That concerns a concession vendor
Both as boy and man we've seen him,
Be the weather foul or fair,
And it matter not what sport he does,
You can bet that he'll be there
He is always strictly business,
Forever is peddling his wares,
Most times he knows not where he is,
And we doubt that he even cares
Someday we will interview him,
His story should prove uncanny,
We're sure you all have seen him,
But know only his name — it's Danny

SEVERAL WEEKS AGO we did a column in which we said, in brief, that the relief pitcher is generally overrated. Following is an interesting and thoughtful reaction to that column from Dr. Henry J. Soldati:

"As you say, too much is made of relief pitchers' wins and saves. In the case of a reliefer, a "win" really only indicates that his team happened to score the key run (or runs) while he was the hurler of record—usually an accomplishment more of the offense than of his effectiveness. And a 'save' is even cheaper, with a staggering bullpenner often getting the award only because he is the last pitcher in a winning effort.

"Now, there are two kinds of relief pitchers. The first are those 'middle-inning' or 'long' men who are often used in lost causes and who, by virtue of that and of the fact that they rarely last until the end of the game, do not often qualify for 'wins' or 'saves.' I suppose the only valid way of judging their efforts is via the classic yardstick — the ERA.

"The other type of reliever is the so-called 'key' bullpenner, the man used to preserve the lead in the close game (usually in late innings), the pitcher known euphemistically as the 'short man.'

"These men are used almost exclusively in contests that are 'winnable' — that is, in games in which their teams are ahead (or tied), and in the last inning or two. Because of this, they may be measured by a 'new' standard—the percentage of games in which they appear that are eventually won by their teams.

"For example, in 1969, the Giants' 'key' reliefer was Fra Linzy. He pitched in 58 ball games, of which San Francisco won 29 (50 per cent).

It would seem that a pennant-contender should be expected to win 60 to 70 per cent of the games in which it feels constrained to call upon its 'ace' relief man. As you see, the Giants and Linzy did not perform at near that pace in '69 . . .

"This does seem (to me) to be potentially a valuable gauge by which to asses the performance of these most important people."

Local Yokels In Softball Triumph

A playofff was necessary as the regular season ended in a two-way tie for first place in the Daly City Recreation divisions high school softball league.

The Seals and the Local Yokels were tied with 5 and 1 records, but in the playoff the Local Yokels edged the Seals, 6 to 5. Mike Lindsey's solo homer in the bottom of the sixth inning proved to be the winning run. Steve Lee also accounted for two Yokel runs. Dan Lucero hit well for the Seals by going three for three.

There was a three way tie for fourth place between the Grabbers, All Stars, and Rejects with the Grabbers winning the coin flip, the All Stars had to beat the Rejects to meet the Grabbers for fourth place. They succeeded in beating the Rejects 4 to 0 behind the heavy hitting of Simi Maldonado. Ira Fern led the defense for the All Stars. The Grabbers then met the All Stars and defeated them 10 to 2 for fourth place. Mike Mounton went four for four, and Jerry Parris hit a homer to lead the Grabbers. Greg Grassechi and Reggie Redmond played well for the All Stars.

For the championship playoffs the teams are: The Local Yokels, Seals, Flavor Grabbers, and Grabbers. The Local Yokels play the Flavor Grabbers, and the Seals play the Grabbers with the winners playing for the title.

The final regular season ended with the Local Yokels beating the Rejects 9 to 0, the Seals defeating the Grabbers 10 to 4, and the All Stars beating the Rejects 9 to 0. The All Stars ended the season by beating the Do-Bees 17 to 1 and losing to the Grabbers 9 to 6.

'A Bunch Of The Best Citizens Of Tomorrow'

Seven young American indoor bowlers have spent two weeks of their summer vacation competing against tenpin bowling teams in Australia.

They are the "King Pins" team from Castle Lanes Bowl, San Francisco, whose average age is 17 years.

The team has been making overseas trips for ten years, according to manager Peter Lusich who accompanied the bowlers.

First requirement for membership of the team is that each passes his grades in school.

"The boys are not just simply champion tenpin bowlers, but are groomed as junior ambassadors. Before coming here I told them how to behave as guests in a country, how to accept gracefully congratulations on a performance, how to answer questions, how to make speeches and when to keep silent and just listen," explained Mr. Lusich.

"I work on making each year's team not only the best in the bowling lanes but a bunch of the best citizens of tomorrow," he said. "We study the lives of the players carefully, and steer them into corrections where it seems advisable."

Before leaving San Francisco, where all are school or university students, the team beat 21 of America's top teams to win the Pacific Coast Bowling Championship.

In each Australian city visited the bowlers instructed beginners in addition to playing in competition and exhibition games.

The team members are chosen from the 1400 bowlers who take part each week in the winter bowling season.

Eight thousand dollars were raised through functions held at home to finance the trip. Also from this amount a girls team — the Castle Queens — will tour Japan and possibly Australia in August.

"John Reeser is going to be a super star," declared Mr. Lusich when introducing the 14-year-old schoolboy. John scores 196 average, with high game 297 and high series 771.

In second year at Balboa High School, he puts in 15 hours weekly at training and votes the competitive spirit the things he likes best about bowling.

Barry Brown, nicknamed "Bear," has spent 12 of his 18 years bowling.

"In our family bowling is a tradition," he said in Australia.

"It's a whole social order with this group," he added. Everything else we do — tennis, golf, baseball, basketball and football — the whole bowling group plays together."

Ed Russell, a student at the University of San Francisco, came second in the Pacific Coast singles championship the night the team left for Australia.

Dave ("Buff") Olivo, who studies at the same university, has a high average of 195.

Mike ("Captain Marvel") Caulley visited Australia two years ago with the King Pins and sees a marked improvement in the Australian bowling game in that time.

Being captain means to Mike keeping his team's spirit high all the time.

Dennis ("Gandubv") Gandug-lia, like Mike Caulley, is a student at San Francisco City College.

"I am studying accountancy but hope to be an electrician," Dennis said.

Series Of Goals For Laguna Told

Marvin Morganti, assistant superintendent for curriculum in the Laguna Salada School District, has established a series of goals for the instructional program of the Pacifica elementary district for the 1970-71 school year.

The goals, not in order of priority, include the implementation of new mathematics textbooks for all grade levels. Consultant Harvey Barnett will hold workshops for teachers in order to provide for a smooth transition to the new program. According to Morganti, there will continue to be a strong emphasis on the improvement of reading instruction with expansion of the concept of Cotinuous Progress by levels in reading education.

The district will continue to employ Miller-Unruh Reading Specialists for the primary grades, however dependent upon state financial support for the program. At present, eleven (11) positions are included in the recently-adopted budget.

Two schools in the district — Sharp Park and Westview — will be involved again in a federally-funded ESEA project under Title 1. Approximately $77,000 has been allocated, and Bill Henricks, director, Instructional Materials Center, will continue to serve as the coordinator of this project, which provides for instructional aides in the classrooms, aditional equipment and materials, a study center for children, and the continued operation of the Counseling-Learning Center staffed by a full-time counselor, said Morganti.

He said the music instruction for the entire district will be enlarged this year, with former instrumental music teachers now serving as classroom music conultants and instructions for vocal music. All students in grade four will receive instruction on Tonnettes and a new music-guide for the classroom will be implemented in all the schools.

New emphasis on the expanded use of the Science Center, located at the Vallemar School, is expected. A curriclum consultant will conduct Science work-incentives for students to conduct science experiments at all grade levels.

The 70's—Time For A Change In Education

By GEORGE GOLDING

The 70's, says Leo Ryan, are going to be a decade of change in education.

Public unhappiness over busing, sex education, integration, discipline, are symptoms he says, of a growing public dissatisfaction of the school system.

"The fact is, the parents say 'my kid isn't getting an education.'

"Before we get to those other problems, we ought to answer the questions of whether the kid succeeds or fails.

"I don't think a kid fails. I think the schools fail."

Using Los Angeles as an example because figures are available from there, he noted that only 16 of the 47 Los Angeles high schools graduate 70 per cent or more of the students who enter those schools.

"That is a failing grade," he says, "if you were to give those schools grades on the basis of 70 per cent being barely passing, only 16 of those schools rate a 'D.' All the rest rate less."

He suggested that the same pattern is true across the state, and, so far as suggestions for solving integration problems is concerned in Los Angeles:

"That is a luxury.

"If the kid can't read, or write, or figure, you can bus him all over town and it doesn't make any difference."

Ryan noted that California schools get approximately $5,000,000,000 per year from state funds and another $5,000,000,000 from local funds.

He said it is about time the schools be called upon to produce provable results for such an expenditure.

"The schools always say, 'give us more money,'" he said. "The answer is, we have."

Education costs twice as much money as it did 40 years ago, he said, and "by any measure, the school system in this state is sick."

He predicted the "biggest and most important battle in this century," would be over his proposal to create a voucher system by which funds would be paid to schools chosen by students and parents.

The pressures of this system, he said, would be toward improving teaching, improving schools, and benefiting pupils, who are "the customers."

"The idea is to put the money behind the kid, not the school.

"We have the same system of education in this country country as Russia has in politics. There is no choice."

He pointed out that, although a parent can send his children to private schools, state taxes to support public schools must still be paid.

Ryan noted the increasing number of parents, in various parts of the state, who are keeping their children home, and tutoring them themselves, because of various dissatisfactions with the existing education.

Assemblyman Ryan said he had great hopes for another proposal to improve education, which resulted in a pilot plan now being tried out in South San Francisco.

Another trend he expects during coming years, he said, is toward younger education.

Principals At Laguna Announced

Administrators at each of the Laguna Salada School District schools for the 1970-71 school year in Pacifica have been announced.

They are:

Miss Leslie Linhares (Cabrillo School), James Hough (Crespi School), Dan March (Fairmont School), Ken Matias (Linda Mar School), Dave Raffo (Oddstad School), Stephen Rood (Ortega School), Ron Lewis (Pacifica Heights School), Mary Jane Drury (Pacific Manor School); Lauren Buel (Pedro Valley School), Nathan Green (Portola School), Marilyn Krassner (San Andreas School), John Logan (Sanchez School), Rod Linhares (Sharp Park School), Doug Morgan (Vallemar School), Clair McMahon (Westview School).

Stephen Rood is the only principal hired from out-of-district. He comes to the coastside from Firebaugh, where he had been suprvising principal of two schools.

The 29-year-old administrator has been active in curriculum development in the San Joaquin Valley. Newly assigned to an administrative post is Mrs. Marilyn Krassner, a ten-year employee who has served as a classroom teacher, resource-opportunity teacher, and assistant principal.

Transferring from the San Andreas School to the Crespi School will be James Hough, whose former experienc before joining Laguna Salada five years ago was with the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Over 30 certificated employees will continue to operate the pupil personnl department of the district.

These staff members are under the direction of Pupil Personnel Director Roy Carver, and include special education teachers, counselors, psychologists and one district nurse.

The health service program was curtailed during budget sessions last spring with the reduction of personnel from five to one district nurse.

The district will continue to maintain E.M.R. classes and classes for the educationally Handicapped. Trainable metally retarded children are sent to the Palos Vedes School in San Bruno.

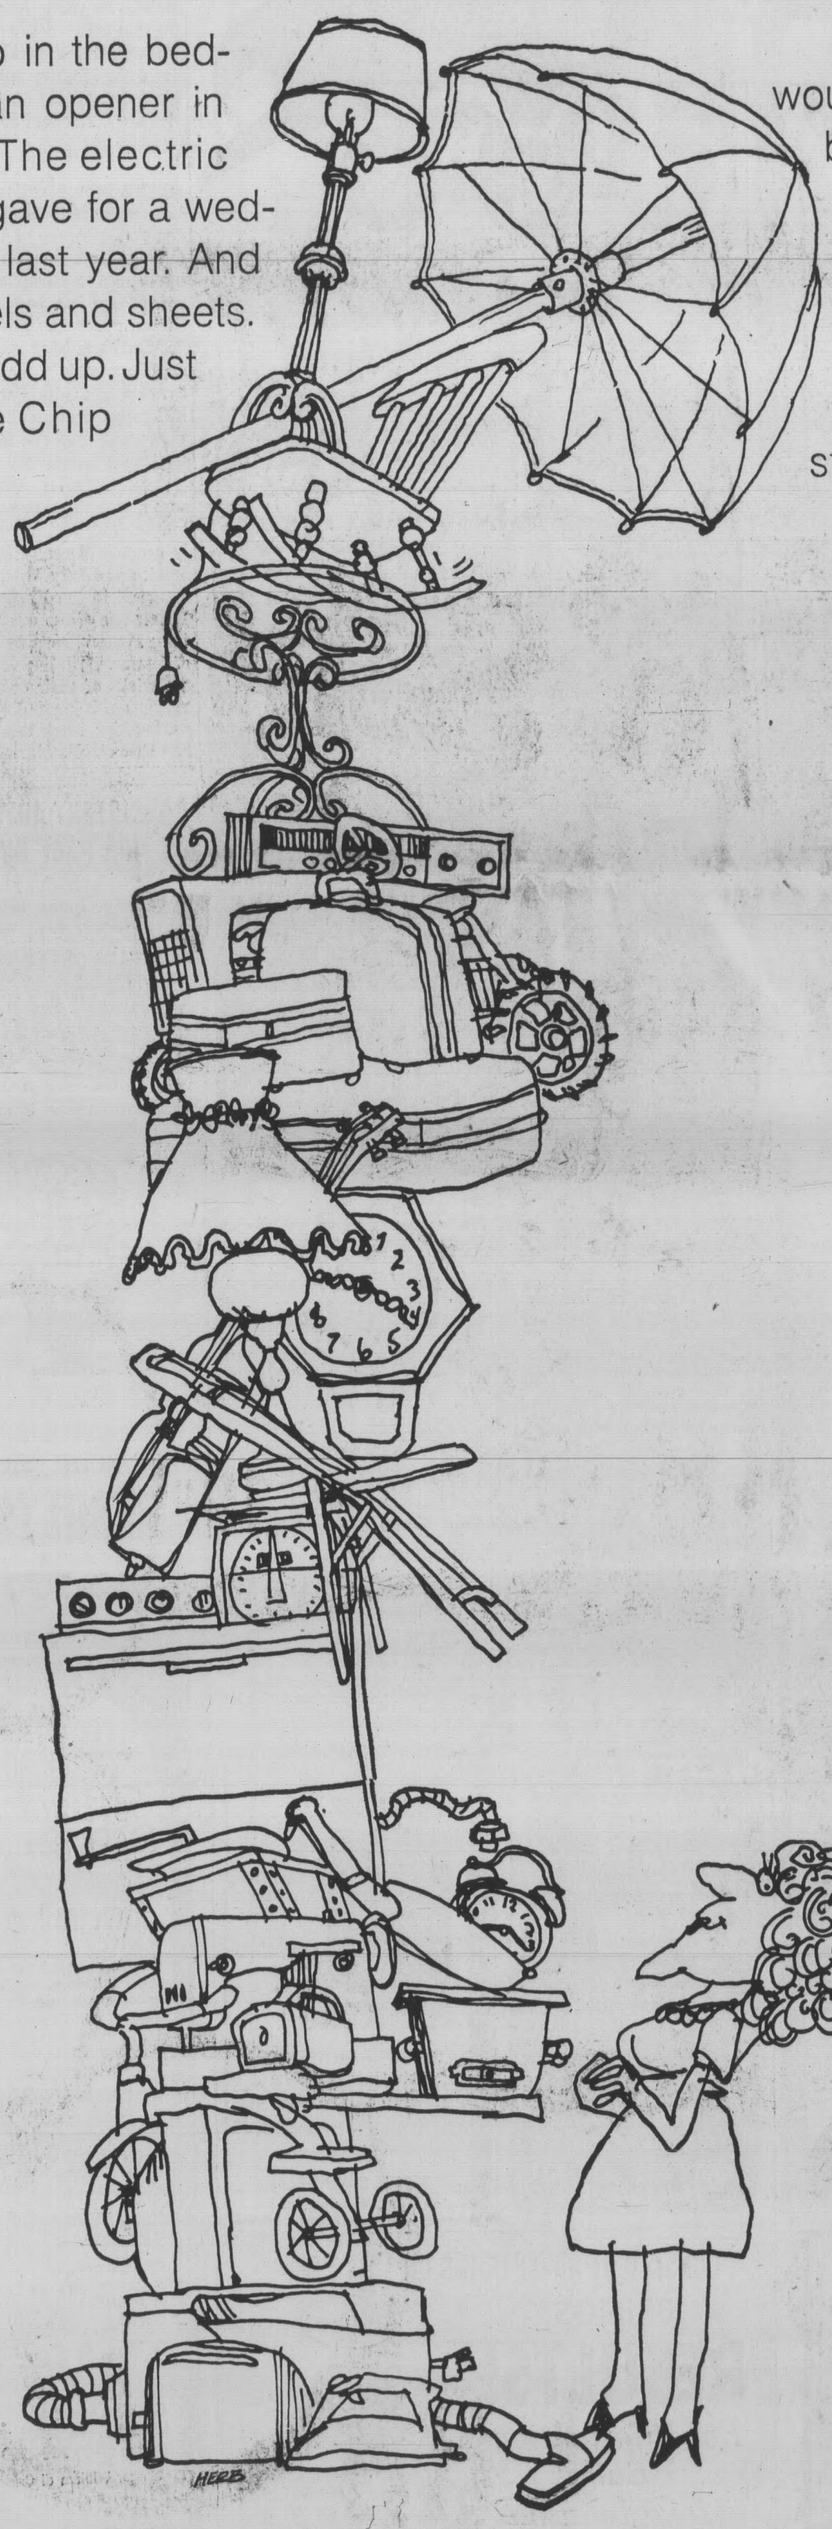
Look at the things you've gotten with stamps.

The radio in the bedroom. The can opener in the kitchen. The electric fry pan you gave for a wedding present last year. And all those towels and sheets.

They all add up. Just the way Blue Chip Stamps do.

Quickly.



Some folks would have you believe that markets can reduce prices merely by taking your stamps away. Not so.

The fact is, they take away a lot of other things, too. Convenient hours. A wide choice of the best brands. A well-stocked store. Plenty of check-out help. All the things you get from a full-service market.

Don't be short-changed.

BRIGHT LIGHTS BY LLOYD JOHNSON

Everything Points To Successful Operation

The Frigate, located on Burlingame Avenue, is sort of a "space" restaurant. By that we mean it has every contemporary thing going for it. Three very alert businessmen, Rolf Hansen, Bob Reeves and Thomas Sullivan, operate this restaurant-bar combo which, in Bright Lights' book, reads like a sure winner. The Frigate, serving luncheon only, features hot and cold sandwiches, salads, desserts and even a diet special, plus your favorite libations. Hours are 11 a.m. to 2 a.m. Monday through Saturday; 5 p.m. to 2 a.m., Sundays. The Iron Rail in Redwood City is also owned and operated by this Burlingame restaurant trio . . . Bill Griffin, general manager of the Hyatt House Burlingame, invites your sales meetings and conferences. Well-equipped meeting rooms are available to accommodate from 15 to 400 persons. Then there is always lively entertainment in Hugo's Bristro while you sip a few relaxers. Dancing six nights a week to the sounds of The Jimmy Vann Band, two young fellows and a beautiful gal. Hal Faulkner, singing guitarist, has a magic touch . . . I like the line in Bruno Fava's advertisement which was suggested by his wife: "Dine amid the Mediterranean decor" — and Bruno's in downtown San Mateo serves the Continental cuisine to back it up. House specialties are Cannelloni and banquets.

It's been vacation time for the Fisherman's Wharf A. Sabella's restaurant family. Lucien, his lovely wife and children choice the shores of Lake Tahoe for their summer vacation fun. Judging from their suntan appearances, it must have been a sunny one. With the low golfing scores Lou has been carding these days, who knows, maybe a "pro is in the making." Charlie Warren is back at the A. Sabella's reservation desk after a long absence . . . Mary Lou Francis of Scotty Campbell's in Redwood City will return from a short vacation in Wisconsin, where she and The Urbans own a summer resort, near Genoa City, called Nippersink's Manor, shortly after Labor Day. Also returning home will be her sister, Theresa, brother-in-law, Bud, and her Mother, Helen. This family group will really make things happen this fall . . . J. J. Van Dyck and Larry Vale, the "Two Old Bags From Oakland," have returned to the Finocchio's show after a tour of Eastern cities. This is one of the wackiest acts in show business, and the visitors from Podunk, New Orleans, London, or wherever, love their style of humor. Both are veteran vaudeville performers, who know all the tricks of their colorful trade . . . Sports fans were quick to recognize basketball great Nate Thurmond enjoying a huge, cut-to-order steak dinner at Lew Lehr's famous steak house in San Francisco's Marina district.

BETTER BUSINESS

By LORENE BEASLEY
Better Business Bureau

A MAXIMUM OF 60 MILLION workers will receive financial and job projection under the Federal Wage Garnishment law which went into effect July 1. The new law has general application and will apply to every employer, employe or creditor who has minimal involvements in interstate commerce. It should be of particular importance to poor people who rely on "easy credit" loans.

Garnishment of wages is any court order (state, local or federal) which requires an employer to withhold all or part of an employee's earnings for payment to a creditor.

Earnings is defined as compensation paid or payable for personal services, whether called wages, salary, commission, bonus or otherwise, and includes periodic payments pursuant to a pension or retirement program. Disposal earnings are that part of an employee's earinngs remaining after the deduction of any amount required by law to be withheld such as federal, state and city income tax and federal social security tax.

THE NEW FEDERAL LAW has two primary provisions. First, it limits the amount of an employee's earnings which may be made subject to garnishment. The maximum part of the total disposable earnings of an individual which is subject to garnishment in any work week may not exceed the lesser of (a) 25 per cent of the disposable earnings for that week, or (b) the amount by which his disposable earnings for that week exceeds 30 times the Federal minimum hourly wage prescribed by the Fair Labor Standards Act in effect at the time earnings are payable (currently this is $1.60 an hour or $48 a week).

Second, it prohibits an employer from discharging any employee because his earnings have been subjected to only one garnishment. The term "one indebtedness" means a single debt regardless of the number of garnishment proceedings brought to collect it.

Whoever willfully violates the discharge provisions of this law may be prosecuted criminally and fined up to $1,000, or imprisoned for not more than one year, or both.

THE SECRETARY of Labor may by regulation EXEMPT from the garnishment provisions of this act garnishments under the laws of any State if he determines that the laws of that State provide restrictions on garnishments which are substantially similar to those provided in this ACT.

The Federal Wage Garnishment law does not annul, alter, affect or exempt any person from complying with State laws:

(1) which prohibit garnishments or provide for more limited garnishments than are allowed under the Federal law, or

(2) which prohibits the discharge of any employee because his earnings have been subject to garnishment for more than one indebtedness.

Slayer At Wife's Side During Birth

Ernest (Doc) Holbrook, convicted slayer of a 17-year-old San Bruno youth during a barroom brawl, became the father of a 5-pound one-ounce girl at 5:22 a.m. Wednesday at St. Luke's Hospital in San Francisco.

The convicted murderer had been given a stay of execution by Superior Court Judge Louis B. Dematteis last July 29 so he could be at his wife's side when she gave birth.

It was the couple's second child.

Judge Dematteis set the deadline for sentencing the 22-year-old Holbrook for September 11. Sentence for the crime of second degree murder could be five years to life in prison.

He spent several hours at the hospital comforting his wife who had asked he be present when she gave birth.

Authorities at the hospital said Mrs. Suzzane Holbrook gave normal birth and was in labor for only a brief time.

Action Tabled

Jefferson Elementary School District's non-teaching — personnel voted to accept whatever percentage of salary increase is approved by the teachers.

The district offered a five per cent increase, an offer that has been tabled.

Frank Teeter, California School Employes Association, told Trustees last week classified workers had accepted fringe benefit package, but "voted to go along with the teachers."

EXPERIMENTS

Dr. James Henry and Patricia Stephens, a pair of University of Southern California Medical School researchers, conducted experiments with isolated mice that indicated coffee itself neither affects blood pressure, nor contributes to coronary disease.

Jeff Elem. Teacher In Resignation

The central figure in the playing of an album from the Woodstock festival in her classroom has resigned as a vocal music teacher in the Jefferson Elementary School District.

Mrs. Carolyn Schwartz, who was censured by the Board of Trustees for playing in her classes a portion of the Woodstock record that contained a four-letter word had been granted a leave of absence for this coming school year.

But, now she's pregnant and will not return to the classroom until her child is of school age, administrators said.

The Woodstock incident came about three weeks before the close of school. A group of parents went to the Board of Trustees to complain that Mrs. Schwartz should not have played the one portion of the album.

Trustees first directed the teacher be removed from the classroom, then later censured her.

Mrs. Schwartz was assigned to non-teacher activities for the remainder of the school year.

Burglars Hit Bruno Home

Burglars tried three windows and the front door before breaking into the back door of Louis Grialou's home on San Diego Avenue in San Bruno according to police.

Authorities said an estimated $890 in property, including a $40 collection of coins was taken some time Wednesday night.

In another burglary reported earlier in the week, San Bruno police said the home of Richard Chaney on Fourth Avenue was ransacked with a loss estimated at $5,449, including a $150 coin collection.

Sugar 'n Spice

Good morning, good cooks.

Do you like brownies? No, I don't mean nice little girls who wear a cute uniform, a Brownie smile and sell cookies once a year. I mean a rich chocolate cookie. If you do, I can certainly recommend this next recipe.

BROWNIES

2 eggs
1 cup sugar
2½ squares unsweetened chocolate
1-3 cup shortening
½ cup cake flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon vanilla
1 cup nuts, chopped

(Bake 350 degrees for 30 minutes.)

Beat the two eggs until thick and frothy; beat in one cup sugar. Melt the two and one-half squares chocolate and one-third cup shortening together over hot water. Add to eggs and sugar and mix well.

Sift together the half cup flour, half teaspoon baking powder and fourth teaspoon salt. Add to creamed chocolate mixture along with the half teaspoon vanilla and cup chopped nuts.

Grease an 8x8x2-inch baking pan and pour cookie mixture. Bake in 350-degree oven for 30 minutes. Cool. Cut into squares before removing from pan.

WHEN I STARTED MAKING these brownies, I ran into a problem you may have encountered too. No baking chocolate. So I substituted cocoa. In case you may need to do the same, here's some information about it.

Unsweetened chocolate is generally used in baking. Chocolate usually contains more fat than cocoa; so where cocoa is substituted in baking, use 3½ tablespoons cocoa and add ½ tablespoon butter for each ounce or square of chocolate. Either sift the cocoa with dry ingredients, or mix with just enough milk or water to make a paste and add directly after egg or egg yolks.

In case you want to frost the brownies, here's a rich chocolate frosting.

CHOCOLATE ICING

3 Tablespoons cocoa
2 teaspoons instant coffee
2 Tablespoons hot water
3 Tablespoons butter
½ teaspoon vanilla
1½ cups sifted confectioners' sugar

Combine the three tablespoons cocoa with the two teaspoons instant coffee and the two tablespoons hot water. Add the three tablespoons butter and one-half teaspoon vanilla, beat well. Next, gradually add the one and one-half cups sifted confectioners sugar beating well.

NOTE: If the icing is thick, add a little hot water to bring it to spreading consistancy.

ENOUGH OF THIS TALK about rich chocolate cookies . . . how about a tasty entree that combines meat and a vegetable in one skillet?

SWEET AND SOUR PORK CHOPS

6 pork chops
2 Tablespoons cooking oil
1 onion sliced (large or small, depending on your taste in onion)
1 cup tomato juice
2 Tablespoons soy sauce
1 Tablespoon sugar
¼ cup vinegar
Salt and pepper to taste
5 cups coarsely cut cabbage

Trim excess fat from 6 chops. Brown the chops in the two tablespoons oil in a large frying pan.

Combine the sliced onion, cup tomato juice, two tablespoons soy sauce, one tablespoon sugar and fourth cup vinegar. Pour over chops. Salt and pepper to taste.

Cover and bring to a good steam. Lower heat and simmer about 30 minutes or until chops are tender. Then drop the cabbage on top, cover and cook 10 to 20 minutes, depending on how you like your cabbage. 10 minutes cooking makes a crisp dish and the longer you cook, naturally, the softer the cabbage.

Remove chops and toss the cabbage in the sauce and serve. Serves 6.

Family Day Care Parents' Workshop

A special series "Workshop for Family Day Care Parents" will inaugurate the Fall 1970 Skyline College Community Education program commencing on Wednesday, September 16, at 7:30 p.m. in Building 1, Room 148.

This program will be under direction of Mrs. Carol Hardgrove, faculty, School of Nursing, UC Medical Center, and psychology instructor at College of San Mateo.

Mrs. Hardgrove will be working in cooperation with the San Mateo County Health and Welfare Department in presenting the four-part series for licensed day care parents and those seeking a license who wish to improve their on-the-job skills.

Along with the initial date the three other programs will be held on Wednesdays, September 23, 30, and October 7. There is no charge for this workshop. Topics will include child growth and development, the different child, techniques for working with children, the value of play and play equipment, nutritional needs of children, and the relationship between the day care parent and the child's own parent.

Mrs. Hardgrove is well known throughout the Bay Area for her work in the field of child care and locally is best known for her personal and professional association with the San Mateo Parents' Child Study Center.

Three different style shows, study and analysis of foods and diets, home decorating, careers in home economics, and child growth and development are a few of the many programs which were part of Skyline College's Home Economics Department during the first year of its operation.

However, this is just the beginning. Plans for the forthcoming semester include courses in child-nursery school area in which speakers from the community will discuss and examine various situations in the relationship between the child and the family.

Auto Hits Utility Pole

Two youths escaped with only minor injuries after their car smashed through a traffic signal control box and utility pole at the corner of Washington and Mission Streets in Daly City around midnight Friday.

So great was the force of the crash the metal roof of the sports car dislodged and went sailing through a plate glass window of a nearby ice cream shop.

No one was in the ice cream shop at the time, police said.

Plums With Bananas In Fruit Cup

Flavorful, juicy fresh plums are being spotlighted by the United States Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service as a Plentiful-Food-to-Feature.

Try plums in summertime fruit salads like this Minted Fruit Cup which combines plums with bananas, strawberries, grapes and pineapple. It is a refreshing appetizer, salad or dessert. For a chilly molded salad, serve Ginger 'N Plum Salad with its creamy Ginger Dressing.

MINTED FRUIT CUP

¼ cup sugar
½ cup water
Mint leaves
1 large banana, sliced
1 tablespoon lemon juice
¾ cup strawberries, halved
¾ cup seedless grapes
¾ cup plums, sliced
¾ cup pineapple chunks

Combine water and sugar with 4 mint leaves; boil 5 minutes. Remove leaves and cool. Coat banana slices with lemon juice. Combine all fruits into large bowl. Pour mint syrup over fruits; mix gently. Chill 30 minutes. Serve garnished with mint leaves. Makes 6 servings.

GINGER 'N PLUM SALAD

1 3-oz. package lemon-flavored gelatin
1¾ cup hot water
¼ cup lemon juice
Dash salt
2 cups sliced plums
¾ cup miniature marshmallows
Lettuce
Ginger Dressing, optional

Dissolve gelatin in hot water; add salt and lemon juice. Chill until slightly thickened. Fold in plums and marshmallows. Pour into 1-quart mold; chill until set. Unmold onto bed of lettuce. Serve with Ginger Dressing, mayonnaise or whipped cream. Serves 6.

Ginger Dressing: Blend 1 cup sour cream with 2 teaspoons minced crystallized ginger, 2 tablespoons honey and 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Chill 30 minutes before serving. Makes 1 cup.

Careers In Agriculture

Most rural young people have to look off the farm for career possibilities. The average U.S. farm boy has only one chance in twelve of getting his own adequately-sized farm.

Still, there is a great demand for graduates of the nation's agricultural colleges in agribusiness with companies that supply the farmer with feed, seed, fertilizers, veterinary supplies, pesticides, equipment and vehicles.

Young people with agricultural education and backgrounds are also being sought by industries which utilize farm products such as packers and processors, food distributors and retailers. And, there is a continuing need for scientists to conduct the research which constantly improves the farmer's efficiency.

Therefore, many rural young people have opportunities to participate in the business of agriculture without gong back to the farm.

Volume No. 1 now on sale for a limited time only.

It's everything you'd expect a good encyclopedia to be.

And it's not expensive.

Now you can have this handsome 25-volume

ENCYCLOPEDIA

for only 1.89 per volume

The publishers of this encyclopedia came to us with a good idea. An idea so good, in fact, that we're happy to pass it on to our customers.

Just imagine owning a handsome family encyclopedia for only $1.89 a volume. Starting this week, we're offering the Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia at that remarkably low price. And to prove to you what a fine value this encyclopedia really is, we're offering Volume No. 1 at the trial price of 25¢.

Don't let the low price fool you. This is a quality reference work in every sense of the word. The publishers called upon over 200 leading authorities, experts in their respective fields, including Nobel Prize winners, to help gather the information and to write the easily understandable text. It contains nearly 10,000 pages in 25 beautifully bound volumes. 7,000,000 words. 30,000 subjects. Over 5,000 pictures and illustrations. Plus a full-color World Atlas. It all adds up to a fine encyclopedia that can benefit every member of your family.

School-age children don't have to be coaxed to consult it frequently. They find new interest and excitement in study periods and their grades can improve noticeably. It's an excellent way to help your child work up to his full potential in school. Parents, too, find it useful and informative and often wonder how they ever did without it.

The Funk & Wagnalls Standard Reference Encyclopedia can be offered at such an exceptionally low price because it's sold through supermarkets. In fact, the publisher has already sold more than 100 million encyclopedia volumes to smart families through supermarkets across the country.

7-Cent Rule Applies To Buying Eggs

Have you ever looked at the different sizes of eggs in a store and wondered which size was the best buy? If so, the United States Department of Agriculture offers this quick solution to your problem. Just remember the 7 cent rule of thumb which is:

If there is less than a 7-cent price spread per dozen eggs between one size and the next smaller size of the same grade, you will get more for your money by buying the larger size. If Large Grade AA eggs are at 50 cents a dozen and Medium Grade AA are at 44 cents, the large eggs would be the better buy.

If the price spread is greater than 7 cents, the smaller size is more economical. For example, if Grade AA Medium eggs are at 44 cents a dozen and Grade AA Smalls are at 36 cents, you will get more for your money buying the smaller size.

Egg experts in USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service explain that although eggs are sold by the dozen, you really buy them by weight, just as you do other foods. Since there is a 3-ounce difference between each size, a 7-cent price spread between sizes will give you an approximately equivalent price per pound for any size.

Delicious, Economical Flank Steak

Perhaps one of the most popular and versatile of all California beef steaks—and there are some 14 or more steak cuts—is flank steak.

Flank steak is a great one to marinate in a teriyaki sauce and then cook over a charcoal fire until crusty on the outside and rare on the inside. Cut it in long thin slices diagonally across the grain.

California Flank Steak Roulades look fancy, are simple to make and taste superb. Marinate the flank steak first for a few hours, then fill with a delectable fresh mushroom and green onion medley. Roll up, fasten with bamboo skewers and cut into inch thick roulades. Grill as you like them.

FLANK STEAK ROULADES

1 California beef flank steak
¼ cup soy sauce
cup tarragon wine vinegar
¼ cup sherry
½ cup finely chopped fresh mushrooms
¼ cup finely chopped green onions
1 tablespoon butter

Trim off fat from flank steak. Marinate steak in soy sauce mixed with vinegar and sherry several hours or overnight. Saute mushrooms and green onions in butter a few minutes. Remove steak from marinade and spread mushrooms and onions lengthwise down center of steak. Starting at narrow end, roll steak over filling and secure with skewers at 1¼ inch intervals. With sharp knife slice between skewers into roulades. Insert second skewer in each roulade to hold in position. Grill over charcoal to desired degree of doneness, turning once. Makes 5 to 6 roulades.

Spareribs With Flavor Of Tahiti

Treat guests to a sample of Tahiti in your dining room or backyard. Pork, popular with the islanders, is a wise selection for the main course, according to home economist Reba Staggs of the National Live Stock and Meat Board.

When marinated in a mixture of French dressing, ginger, soy sauce and pineapple juice, spareribs are true in flavor to Tahitian cuisine which is a combination of tropical and French. Rice is an appropriate accompaniment while combined fruits maintain the island theme.

TAHITIAN SPARERIBS

4 to 6 pounds spareribs
¾ cup garlic-flavored French dressing
2 teaspoons ginger
½ teaspoon salt
¼ cup soy sauce
½ cup pineapple juice

Combine dressing, ginger, salt, soy sauce and pineapple juice. Pour marinade over spareribs and refrigerate 8 to 10 hours or overnight. Turn spareribs once while marinating. Place ribs on a rack in a roasting pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 2 hours or until done. Baste ribs every 15 to 20 minutes with marinade. 4 to 6 servings.

THERE'S A BENCHNAPPER on the loose in South City. Recently, councilmen in that city received a letter from a resident complaining of benches missing at bus stops. Benches, such as the one that was mysteriously swept off the corner of El Camino and Spruce, are placed for the convenience of residents by stores.

The entire police force of the "Industrial City" has been thrown into the search for the desperados. Meanwhile, the council has indicated it will welcome any new bus stop benches donated by stores.

AND SPEAKING OF SOUTH CITY — City Planner Dan Pass, with the blessing of the council, has demanded Daly City submit to him plans of an apartment house complex that can be seen by South City residents.

What Pass failed to mention is occupants of the proposed apartments will be able to look out at that ridiculous "Industrial City" sign on the side of (appropriately named) Sign Hill above City Hall. Pass thinks the development is an excellent example of poor planning. It might be better for Daly City to put factories there to coincide with that sign (???)

HEY, YOU GUYS IN THE FAA, it ain't "Southern San Francisco!" It's SOUTH S.F. or simply "South City." After all, if that government agency is going to throw their support behind a South City resolution concerning abatement of a jet noise they ought to at least get the name right.

OH, THE PAIN — Everyone seems to be picking on us newspaper folks. For example, this little blurb appeared in a recent issue of the Rotary Club of Daly City's bulletin:

"An editor died after a lingering illness and his savings barely covered hospital and doctor bills, leaving nothing for funeral expenses. A friend, after soliciting funds all day, lacked only one dollar of having enough. Wearily he asked a stranger, 'Could you give me a dollar to bury an editor?' The stranger pulled out a $5 bill and said, 'Here, bury five of them.' "

DOWN MEXICO WAY — D.C. police cadet Pete Salvi is learning about internatonal law and order first hand. While visiting Tijuana last week, good old Pete and a male friend decided to take a short cut through an alley back to their parked car. Halfway through the "shortcut" six young men armed with knives "bargained" with Salvi for his money or life. Goodbye, vacation money!

TOGETHERNESS TODAY — San Bruno city clerk Carl Hultberg told the city council last week that a harmonious situation presently exists between the Republican and Democratic parties regarding registering to vote. The city received a letter asking them to pass a resolution urging folks to vote. The letter was signed by BOTH political parties. Now, if San Bruno councilmen could only get together like that. . . .

WEDDING BELLS — Paul Rosenthal, manager of Kay Jewelers in Westlake Shop Center, returned this week from a two-week Hawaiian holiday with his new bride — the former Joan Fairington of Oakland. First for both. And we wonder where Paul bought the diamond??? For his sake it had better be from Kay's.

GENE PERRY, publicist for the Westlake Center, tells he went to the Raiders-Packers game Sunday and left when the score was 27-0, favor of the Packers. "I decided to go see that movie about Patton — at least I knew who was going to win when the score was 27.0."

IS STATE HIGHWAY ENGINEER Alan Hart's biggest hobby building roads? Nope! Matter of fact he says his biggest thrills come from watching the Giants at work at Candlestick Park. His nephew plays third base. When Hart retires he intends to live on the Peninsula as close as possible to Candlestick.

THE COUNTY SUPERVISORS claim the Council of Mayors' vote of 6-8 favoring placing the issue of At-Large election of Supervisors on the November ballot was not convincing enough to sway their thinking, even though the vote has split the north and south county in half.

For that reason alone it should be on the ballot and settled by county voters once and for all, D.C. Mayor Bud Lycett feels. He's not alone in that channel of thought, his colleagues think the same. But the indecisive mayors' vote, coupled with the poor number of voters' signatures on a petition, shot the whole thing down last week. Pity!

IT'S A SMALL WORLD — Laura Biagini and Rosalie Guillen, both of Broadmoor and Westmoor students, meet each other unexpectedly on the street recently. Not unusual?

"Oh? Well, they were walking toward each other on a narrow, back street in Florence, Italy, when both were startled to see each other so far from home, and on separate summer-long journeys. Laura was on a nine-week trip to Europe with her parents, the Gerard Biaginis of 87th Street, and Rosie, of Sweetwood Drive, was staying with a Verona, Italy, family as part of the Ambassador Program of The Experiment In International Living.

Voters In SSF To Decide Overpass

For

Argument for retention of pedestrian overpass at the intersection of West Orange and Camaritas avenues to be constructed at the same time as Westborough Boulevard:

It is projected that there will be in excess of 20,000 cars using the Westborough Expressway daily. The proposed speed limit is 45 miles per hour. This intersection will involve all pedestrians walking or biking to the West Orange Library, parochial school, church, Boys' Club, and new municipal pool. They will have to cross, at the minimum, one uncontrolled turning lane, one island, 90 feet of traffic, and one divider strip.

$112,000 was allocated in the 1967-68 budget for the specific purpose of construction of a pedestrian overpass at West Orange, Camaritas and Westborough. This money has been drawing interest at the rate of at least 5 per cent since 1967 which amounts to approximately $20,558.16.

If the overpass is constructed along with the expressway, the land for the overpass anchor points has been acquired at no cost to the taxpayer. However, if the overpass were to be constructed at a later date, after completion of the expressway, the cost of the land to the taxpayer will be astronomical.

It has been stated that no qualified person has recommended for construction of this overpass. However, in a letter dated Aug. 8, 1968, from Louis H. Goss, director of public works, South San Francisco to the San Mateo County Board of Supervisors, it is stated that "This office has recommended and the City Council has determined that the proper location and design of the proposed pedestrian overcrossing over the Westborough Boulevard Extension shall be in accordance with Alternate B as delineated upon County Engineer's drawing."

The undersigned have no political aspirations, our main concern is pedestrian safety throughout the City of South San Francisco. —Citizens Committee for Pedestrian Safety, Barbara R. Bergero, John L. Drago, Gordon A. Capurro, Nancy D. Hale.

Against

Argument Against Measure: We urge you to vote "No" on the measure regarding the pedestrian overcrossing at the intersection of West Orange and Camaritas for the following reasons:

The well-known traffic engineering firm of DeLeuw and Cather was hired by our City Council to study pedestrian overcrossings. They recommended against construction of this overcrossing. Their report of March, 1970, states:

"Our studies show that a pedestrian overcrossing spanning Westborough Boulevard (at Camaritas and West Orange avenues) is not necessary at this location even if it were to equally serve shopping, library, and recreational pedestrian demands."

Former Police Chief Fabbri stated that the decision of the overcrossing should be put off until traffic patterns had been established after the completion of Westborough Boulevard.

No qualified expert who has studied this situation has recommended in favor of the proposed overcrossing.

The way in which the matter was handled by the Council on May 18 indicates that the decision was railroaded through. The issue was not on the City Council agenda. The undersigned councilmen were not notified that it would be discussed. Furthermore, prior to the vote, the other councilmen refused to consider a suggestion that all heavily used intersections be studied to determine the priority if any, for constructing pedestrian overcrossings based upon need rather than politics.

We ask that if the councilmen who voted in favor of spending approximately $100,000 of our money are so convinced of their arguments, why were they afraid to post the issue on the agenda and make it a subject for public discussion?

We favor more careful consideration on such matters as pedestrian safety than has been exhibited by the other members of the city council. We therefor urge you to vote "No" on this measure — F. Frank Mammini, councilman; Warren Steinkamp, councilman.

Growth has outmoded many American institutions. We readily understand the sweeping changes in systems of transportation, methods of housing, ways of producing goods, and modern research and development. What surprises and often catches us off balance is the effect of expansion and acceleration upon such seemingly enduring and tradition-bound institutions as the stock market and the Courts.

A sale is a sale is a sale. Or so thought brokers and the public until the sheer volume of transactions created an incredible tangle of papers, orders and funds in the late 60's. The old ways were continued up to the very moment of collapse, and only then did the securities industry respond to a break-down that should have been anticipated years previously.

Today, the Courts are in a very similar situation. A trial is a trial, or at least many have continued to think in this manner even as the mounting weight of congestion tangles our system of justice.

Bad as the incapacity of the securities industry proved to be, the growing situation in the Courts could turn out to be worse. Several reasons bring this about:

1. With a growing population and ever more complex ways of doing things, the sheer number of cases has expanded and grown at an explosive rate.

2. Crime has increased — and criminal calendars have grown at a faster pace than population.

3. Modern trial techniques have lengthened trial time.

4. Our system of justice has become more sophisticated and fair, but this has all added time to calendars and trial.

5. The attack on the establishment has included the court system, and it has taken valuable hours to struggle through this onslaught.

For these and other reasons, the mills of justice are not only grinding slowly, but could, conceivably, stop grinding altogether.

When Chief Justice Burger and others propose ways of speeding up the system, they speak with a sense of urgency that is real indeed. For the courts are an easy target. Those being prosecuted complain about fairness, and the public, confronted with increasing crime rates and revolutionary tactics, demands sterner and swifter justice. Yet, if the courts do not remain impartial and even handed we will have no justice at all.

So the necessity of speeding things up is acute. Judicial reform is nothing new. Early this century Roscoe Pound sounded an alarm, and for over fifty years a crusade against inertia, indifference and red tape has been waged by many judges and lawyers and some politicians. But the pace of this crusade has been that of molasses flowing across ice, and another fifty years of such progress might find our system of justice in ruins. The job is going to be done in a relatively short time, and to do this fundamentals must be considered.

The securities people finally came to understand that the form of transactions and procedures wasn't important. They learned that what was essential was the transfer of money for shares and the honorable handling of other people's money.

The problem is not with new ideas, but with their adoption. We all tend to resist change and cling to old ways. But our old ways of handling things are failing us, and we had better get on with the job — now.

LETTERS

To The Editor

Editor, The Post:

On August 10, the South San Francisco school board had one of the shortest meetings of the past year. The meeting started at 8, but with a five-page lengthy agenda closed in less than two hours.

What made this meeting so important was our trustees passed a $13,563,302 budget that is costing the taxpayers additional 39 cents in the tax rate this year.

I am sorry to say I have seen the trustees spend more time among themselves discussing dirt hauling than they gave to the final approval of a $13 million dollar budget.

On June 15 the members of the board asked for information on at least two items that could be cut and not effect the classroom situation. The board was given his information at the July meeting, but it was held over, supposedly until Monday night's meeting.

There was a futile attempt by some of the members to discuss this information, but the budget was passed as it stood. Trustee Leo Eserini pointed out we can always pass the budget and talk about the cuts later. This may be true, but I have only two questions, Is this a good practice? And when is later?????

One of the ten suggested cuts is whether we should fill another non-teaching position, (curriculum specialist) after cutting 40 teachers' positions who deal directly with the children. School starts in less than one month and as it stands we have only $1 in the general reserve. I would like to see the board stop procrastinating and get down to the business of acting on their own suggested budget cuts.

BETTE R. HIGGINS,
South San Francisco.

Encounter Groups

SAMUEL CHANDLER

Daly City Librarian

GENERATION GAP — Communcation barriers — how wide or high are they? Can they be overcome?

The college kids say that if the older generation finds them difficult to understand, wait until they are confronted with those now in high school.

Roderick Thorp and Robert Blake conducted a series of interviews with 32 high school and college-age boys and girls over a seven-month period. These interviews were taped and are now published in the book The Music of Their Laughter.

It was clearly stated, and understood, that this was to be the interviewees' book. They would be protected — names changed, etc. — but when the book came out they would be able to find their stories.

THESE ARE ALL CHILDREN of upper-middle class homes: fathers with five-figure salaries, ranch-style houses in the clean-aired suburbs, three cars. They are the products of the American dream home and after reading their stories we see that these are also the children who have analyzed our society and have found it wanting.

Most are on or have experimented with the soft drugs. Most find communication with their parents difficult, if not impossible.

But as one boy said "you know, to bring these things out in the open like this is really good — and to let people know what's happening — and I mean, really get into it deep, you know, like you're doing — well, people, like I see that — well, you know people will see that the kids — the whole youth scene, you know after reading things like this, is like they're real people, you know, they're not so different from other people."

Getting into it deep is what numbers of people are doing today in Synanon, Esalen; through T-Groups, Encounter groups — many different names, many different programs with one common aim "first to know, in your head and below it, what you think and feel, and then to reflect on newly unearthed alternatives to your accustomed ways of being. Once it is unlocked, the door between your feelings and the cosmos need not be kept yawning open. It can be left ajar.

THESE WORDS are from the recently published book, Please Touch: A Guided Tour of the Human Potential Movement, by Jane Howard. Miss Howard began her year's experience when she was assigned by Life Magazine to report on an advanced encounter workshop conducted by Esalen in Big Sur, California, in January, 1968

She became intrigued and involved and, discovering that almost nothing had been written for laymen covering the many kinds of encounter groups and the many approaches being used, she decided to devote one year to investigating the movement. In each group she stated that she was a reporter and would be writing about her encounter. She also participated fully and completely in each experience subjecting her "own psyche to a sampling of such groups."

The people involved in the movement feel as psychologist Richard Fanson of the Western Behavioral Science Institute states, "Many ostensible normal people go through life without knowing the security of a single deep or significant relationship on which they can depend for support and understanding, sharing problems and feelings, and in which they can be truly and simply themselves, without fear or facade."

Miss Howard dispels many popular misconceptions about these groups. Although she participated in a weekend of agressive dating designed to perfect the art of letting somebody get to know you and although "even the most timid and conservative T-Groups are assailing cultural taboos against touching" overt sexual/encounters are not encouraged in most groups.

Synanon is not exclusively for drug addicts, but holds weekly meetings for any interested person who can become a memder of a Tribe and can then graduate to participation in a "perpetual stew."

NUDITY is a part of a very few group encounters although both sexes may bathe together at Esalen's Big Sur retreat, where Miss Howard "found that no matter who else was around, or how they looked, it was far more peaceful than prurient to soak there and watch the waves break out at sea."

There are numbers of leaders who like itinerant preachers spend their time traveling across the country leading groups and training others to lead. There are, of course, charlatans among them and anyone wishing to participate in a group is advised to check the leader's background and experience.

The movement Miss Howard introduces us in to this highly informative and readable book is growing.

The Chief's Corner

The Drug Problem

If I find that my son or daughter has marijuana, what should I do?

First let us define some of the problems. Marijuana is a drug which causes intoxication to define it in the simplest way. Possession of marijuana is a crime as established by the legislature of this state. Police officers are legally obligated to detain violators.

Private persons are not legally obligated to detain violators, but are morally obligated to take a course of action which will aid society as a whole. There is no simple solution to this question, however, certain factors must be considered one being the amount of the drug located.

THE AMOUNT may indicate that your youngster is either using the drug or dealing in its distribution. Let us assume that the amount of the drug in question is mimimal, indicating use only.

You, as a parent, at this point probably know less about the drug than your youngster, and any attempt on your part to argue against its use would be futile.

Your youngster probably views this drug as a mild intoxicant causing no harm. The complexity of the drug is too difficult to explain in this short space.

The first problem to overcome is whether or not you can sit down and talk with your youngster. If this can be done and two-way communications are open, then a basis for understanding and learning has been established. After considering the definitions given previously as a basis an agreement should be reached to determine why the drug was used.

Some of the most frequent reasons for use include satisfaction of peer groups, curiosity, and last but not least the need to avoid problems most youngsters encounter by becoming mildly or heavily intoxicated. The answer to this question may not be immediately apparent, and it may be necessary to return to it a number of times to clearly set forth all reasons.

A JOINT LEARNING effort should be made by both adult and youngster by researching material on the drug which will broaden the understanding of the drug itself and its dangers. Two reference books can be obtained through local book stores which will present both view points. The books are "Marijuana" (Anti - Legalization) by Dr. Bloomquist, Glencoe Press and "The Marijuana Papers" (Pro-Legalization) by David Solomon. Both can be purchased in paperback form.

After reviewing the available material on the drug and establishing the reason for its use by your youngster, and then considering the difficulties involved in abusing a substance which could cause loss of one's freedom because of arrest, the solution as to avoiding continued abuse will be reached much more readily.

If a youngster is arrested by police officers, the case is usually referred to the juvenile probation officers who will determine the need for additional action. If your youngster continues to abuse this drug, then professional guidance should be sought.

IN THE EVENT more than a useable quantity of the drug is involved or another drug is involved, contact should be made with our department for suggested guidance.

Remember one important factor: There is no easy solution to our present drug problem, but the best way to solve a problem is not to have let it develop in the first place.

SSF Manager, Councilman In Rift

By BOB PETERSON

Criticism from South San Francisco Mayor Patrick Ahern and Councilman William Borba of Superintendent of Park and Recreation Bob Maxey for "moonlighting" has apparently been interpreted by City Manager Tom McKenzie as a challenge to the authority of his position.

It was the second time McKenzie has stood his ground politically on interpretation of the authority his position entails.

Back in February McKenzie and then-Mayor Frank Bertucelli had a bitter exchange of words when McKenzie was attempting to define and exercise the boundaries of his authority.

At that time, McKenzie said to Bertucelli that, "We're (McKenzie and his staff) not going to sit here and take abuse from anyone else," referring to Bertucelli's remarks of the city staff's efficiency or lack of same.

McKenzie told Bertucelli that if he wanted to criticize either himself or the staff he should do it in the city manager's office, not in public.

Bertucelli, at that time said, "All right, we'll go into a personnel session right now. Let's get this thing settled."

However, cooler heads prevailed that night and later then-councilman Andrew Rocca apparently succeeded in patching things up.

In this new rift, which happened last week during a meeting with councilmen and department heads on a recent salary survey report, McKenzie, talking to Mayor Ahern, said, "If you're disatisfied with the way I'm performing my job all you have to do is ask for a personnel session. I've told you that before."

It all started when Councilman Borba asked Maxey how many hours Maxey was on the job. Borba went on to criticize the department head for teaching a course at San Francisco State College, also for attending classes there, apparently during working hours.

The matter of teaching was originally brought up during budget sessions in July. At that time Maxey explained that he taught one class from February to June for three hours a week while the regular instructor was on sabbatical.

Maxey explained that his class began at 8 a.m. and that he was at work at 9:30 a.m., one hour past the usual city employe starting time. The department head also pointed out that he was doing this with the permission of the city manager and, he thought, the knowledge of the councilmen.

He told Borba that he put in, on the average, 55 to 65 hours a week on his job. According to Maxey he attended school in 1969 each Tuesday from 4 until 10 p.m.

"What is this, an inquisition," asked McKenzie.

"If he doesn't want to answer, that's okay," said Borba.

Coming to Borba's defense, Ahern said, "He's only trying to be equitable."

Maxey, however, continued to explain that on that Tuesday he left the office at 3:30 p.m. to attend class until 10 p.m.

"I'm working toward my masters degree in recreation," said Maxey, "and I intend to achieve it. This will necessitate gonig to class during the working day. If the council doesn't want me attending classes, they'll have to tell me what my working hours will be. I'm not obligated to a 24-hour service to the city."

Contacted later, Maxey said he "would abide by the wishes of the mayor" that he (Maxey) would not attend classes during the normal working day. "I do intend to attend classes in the evening, or with some special project," said Maxey.

He said he can attain his goal with one more year, adding, "It's not a goal to help me get out of this town (as was indicated by Ahern, that Maxey would get an education at city time and expense and then leave,) but a personal goal to achieve."

Meanwhile McKenzie said, "I gave him permission to attend, and teach that class. If there is some quarrel, fine."

"We'll take it up," said Ahern, then saying to Maxey, "If you want to attend class you should do it on your own time. I can't say your hours are such and such. I leave that up to your own discretion. If you want to go to school. good, but not during the normal working time, unless you want to remove that time from your pay. Even that may not work."

Ahern than made reference to the fact the education would lead to ' a bigger job and a bigger city and (you) will leave."

Maxey said, "South San Francisco has benefited ten-fold from my schooling."

Borba interjected that Maxey's brief stint as a teacher, and apparently the classes he attended was "not fair to the taxpayers."

McKenzie said such situations are common practice in the city. Ahern said he was not aware of this fact. "If he's going to make his salary here, he should be putting in his hours here," said Ahern.

"Whenever he has work to do, he's here," said McKenzie, "whether it's during the day or at council meetings at night. The normal working day is whenever he is called upon on that particular day."

Borba interjected, "What's going to stop others? There shouldn't be any moonlighting with department heads."

Councilman Warren Steinkamp came to Maxey and McKenzie's defense, saying, "Maxey's efforts (to educate himself and to teach are commendable. And the city manager has shown discretion. This is a common practice in the federal government for a person to improve his position.

"I don't know about his being paid (by the college)," said Steinkamp. "But it's leaving benefits with the individual and the employer (the city)."

Said Ahern, "That sounds real romantic, but it's opening a can of beans that can never be closed."

Councilman Bertucelli asked City Attorney John Noonan whether there were any resolutions or ordinances permitting such situations.

"Yes," said McKenzie, "with my permission they (employes) can."

That pretty much was how the discussion remained. Mayor Ahern said it would have to be taken up in an executive session, but he said he doubted whether the decision was the perogative of the city manager.

Bruno Mgr. To Pay Own Legal Fees

Costs of representing San Bruno City Manager Christopher (Kit) Menkin, named along with three councilmen and the city in a taxpayers suit, is not coming out of city funds, according to Menkin's attorney, Ronald Carter.

"He has to answer," said Carter of his client. "However, he is not being represented by Ropers and Majeski (the Redwood City firm hired to represent the city and 'other named defendants'."

"He's paying out of his own pocket the costs of his own attorney which is a monumental feat when he's not getting any salary," said Carter.

The suit, actually a writ of mandate to annul the appointment of Menkin and to recover Menkin's salary (which he's not yet been paid), was filed August 10.

Planning Commissioner Victor S. Ogrey filed the petition, and named as respondents were Mayor Neil Christal, Councilmen Ted Long and Dick Griffith, Menkin, the city and six "John Does."

The suit was probably the most significant factor of the August 10 council meeting. At the next meeting, two weeks later, Ogrey was ready to withdraw it, should the majority that voted Menkin in, rescind their earlier vote. They didn't.

No definite date has yet been set for the hearing on the petition.

Tax Boost For County

An increase of nearly 36 cents in the basic county property tax rate was okeh'd Tuesday by the County Board of Supervisors.

The boost—exactly $.3559 for each $100 of assessed valuation—brings the county rate to a total of $2.1292.

The new rate was computed by Controller Edward J. McGuire Jr., as necessary to finance the local share of a record $116-million county government spending program for 1970-71.

Tarshes told the board that about 20 cents of the increase is due to problems faced by all counties this year — "inflation, substantial increases in costs related to law enforcement and the administration of justice and considerable increases in public assistance costs."

He blamed another 10 cents of the boost on "the failure of the state to completely support previous commitments." Failure of the state to meet its commitment to reimburse the county for certain Medi-Cal costs has resulted in a $953,220 deficit, Tarshes said, while the county is losing another $679,458 because of failure of the state to reimburse for revenue losses caused by doubling of the business inventory tax exemption.

Tarshes said an $800,000 environmental fund established by the supervisors this year accounts for the remaining 5 cents of the increase.

Tarshes said most of the major counties in California will have larger tax rate increases than San Mateo County. The increases will approximate $1 in Los Angeles and Sacramento Counties, he told the board.

The San Mateo County increase is almost identical with the $.3547 boost approved by the supervisors in 1968.

Also adopted by the board today was a slightly decreased tax rate for the county library system, which is listed separately because it does not cover the entire county. The new rate is $.2110, compared with a figure of $.2135 for 1969.

S.S.F. Schools Set To Open

South San Francisco schools will open September 8 for the Fall semester. In addition to a new K-6, Junipero Serra, there will be 13 other elementary schools, four junior highs, two senior highs, a continuation high and adult school.

Certificated personnel to teach advise, guide, direct and administer to 13,522 students will number 672. Next month the total number of students in the South San Francisco School District will triple the entire population of the city 50 years ago. In 1920 the population was 4,411, according to City Clerk Arthur Rodondi's office.

School opened for the first time in South San Francisco more than a century ago. In 1866 considerably less than 40 boys and girls studied thier 3R's in a one-room wooden structure on County Road near the 12-Mile House. That school was part of the San Bruno Elementary School District.

Local boys and girls continued to matriculate in the San Bruno District.

Between 1885 and 1895 a four-room wooden structure, on the Magnolia School site, faced Baden Avenue. The building included classrooms, a library and the principal's office.

In 1907, on the Magnolia site, a three-story wooden structure with nine classrooms was added facing Grand Avenue. That same year the district was again divided into South San Francisco and San Bruno Park School districts. However, it wasn't until 1909 that the local district was officially named the South San Francisco School District. In 1913, on the same Magnolia site, the first high school was erected. Prior to that date high school students traveled to San Mateo to attend classes. In 1916, a 15-room high school was constructed on the Spruce School campus.

Additions to that high school included an Industrial Arts Building and boys' gym in 1926, currently a warehouse for the district. Seven classrooms and a girls' gym was added to the Spruce campus in 1934. That secton was remodeled as part of the present Spruce Elementary School in 1966. The high school structure on the Spruce site was demolished in 1959.

Boy On Skates Is Killed

A nine-year-old South San Francisco boy was fatally injured last week when he was struck by a motorist while roller skating on Sonora Avenue about 9 p.m.

Police said the young victim, Richard Byron, son of Walter J. Byron, of 128 Ramona Avenue, was hit by a car driven by David James Jeffers, 17, of 703 Linden Avenue, South San Francisco.

The driver told police the boy darted in front of him from between two parked pickup trucks while on roller skates and he was unable to avoid hitting him.

The possibility the driver was speeding is being investigated and police have cited the youth to Hillcrest Youth Guidance Center on a charge of involuntary manslaughter with a vehicle.

Thief Was Particular

Bruno I. Gianoli, owner of High Performance Engineering, 1168 Montgomery Ave., San Bruno, reported the theft of a special carburetor manifold from his place of business Saturday.

Police said some one broke a rear glass window to gain entrance, and took only this $700 item.

Agency Needs More Tools

Members of the county's Local Agency Formation Commission agreed August 26 that they need more "tools" if they are to do the things they are supposed to today.

Just what "tools" they need was not specified by commission members, who must rule on all annexations and incorporations in the county.

Supervisor James V. Fitzgerald, a commission member, cited a case in Daly City where 18 houses are not located in any special district, yet they are getting all services.

"The county had to go up there and kill rats, but we couldn't collect because they were not in any district," Fitzgerald reported.

Commissioner William R. Lawson complained that the commission is just "spinning its wheels" without adequate powers.

Coastside Ordinance Is Adopted

Pacifica's City Council last week adopted an ordinance that creates a capital improvement fees structure.

The council also set September 28, at Oceana High School, as the time and place to hear protests in relation to proposed acquisition and improvements within the Sharp Park Improvement District.

Dave Thompson, city engineer, was appointed the engineer of work for the project.

In other business, the council:

—Held over until September 28 a proposal to establish a mobile home park district to the zoning law.

—Approved execution of an agreement with the County of San Mateo for rescue services at Devil's Slide by the Pacifica Fire Department.

—Denied a claim for $10,000 damages on behalf of Judith Bentley, who was injured it was alleged, when she fell on May 20 into a tank at the Linda Mar sewage treatment plant.

—Heard from City Engineer Dave Thompson that low bid for improvement of Sharp Park Road was some $160,000 below the estimate (Pacifica's share in the cooperature San Bruno, San Mateo Junior College District venture).

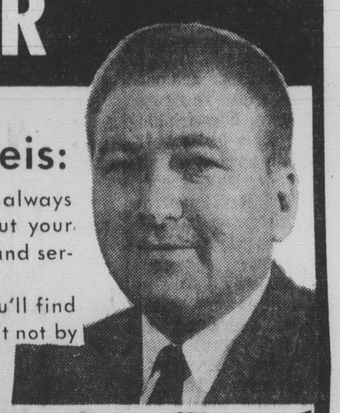
HOW TO BUY A NEW CAR



memo from Matt Reis:

Best way to buy a new car is to have a FRIEND in the automobile business. That's not always easy. He'd be someone you could confide in. Someone who would really care about your needs. Someone who would put you into the right car, save you a good deal of money and service you well after the sale.

If you're wishing you had a friend in the automobile business you can stop wishing. You'll find him here at METCALF-REIS. We're pretty proud of our reputation . . . and it came about not by selling cars, but through making long-time friends. Works well for you . . . and for us.

Dave Jones Reports On Austria Trip

Dave Jones, El Camino High School foreign exchange student to Austria, has been reporting about his experiences this summer. In his first two letters he describes his orientation sessions before leaving, his arrival in Europe and his new "Austrian family."

At the orientation sessions, Dave wrote, "I am in Putney, Vermont, at Windham College. My German classes started the second day and will continue until my last day. We are taught be active Germans. Classes start at 8:00 a.m. and continue until 4:15 p.m. We do break for lunch, however.

We are taught by a method that was developed by the United States Army in World War II. All we do is repeat and repeat sentences first said by our teacher. We will not learn how to read or write. It is all memorization and is very difficult and tiring. But it has to be for we only have 17 days to learn the language."

I am meeting kids from all over the United States and am learning how to say hello and goodby in about 10 different languages since there are that many different languages being taught here. I leave my group of 10 students for Austria shortly. I just can't wait to meet my "new" family.

After arriving in Austria, the EC student reported, "In Liebnitz, Austria, The Experiment in International Living Group has just arrived. We number 11 and are now living with individual families. I am staying with the Johann Wagners in St. Georgen, about 25 kilometers from Leibnitz. It is a very small farming community.

We arrived in Graz by train from Brussels Saturday night about 10:30 p.m. We spent almost 24 hours in Europe's trains! We then took a bus to Leibnitz where our families met us about 11:30 p.m. My new parents, my brother Hans, 19, and my two sisters, Resi, 17, and Agnes' 14, insisted that I eat, so I ate! A three course meal! It is a good thing Europeans eat small breakfasts!

My home is on a farm where the main crop is corn. The weekend I arrived, St. Georgen was celebrating its annual Sommerfest, or Summer Festival, to welcome the summer and hope for good corn crops. There was a band, dancing, beer drinking and just fun for a whole weekend. I will go to school (Leibnitz Gymnasium, or high school) with my "sister" Resi tomorrow and our entire group is to be welcomed by the mayor of Leibnitz on Wednesday.

Austria, from way down here near Jugoslavia, is very beautiful, very green. Everybody that I have met and spoken to has been really friendly. And that's in my broken German. The only person that really speaks English well here is Resi. Either I speak German, or I don't speak!

PAT BRESNAHAM (Center) presents her father James with a German mug she bought while in Emden, West Germany as a Norris Volkswagen youth exchange student. The Bresnahans, of 1237 Lerida Way, Pacifica, greet Pat at San Francisco International Airport following her six-week journey abroad. Sigrid Akkermann of Emden stayed with the Bresnahans to complete the exchange, Daly City Volkswagen dealer Ed Norris explained.

New Naval Assignment To Grealish

Captain James V. Grealish, United States Naval Reserve, has been named to the Chief of Naval Operation-Commandant Sea Power Team for the San Francisco Bay Area.

Prior to this assignment, he served as Commander of the Twelfth Naval District Reserve Destroyer Division homeported at Treasure Island.

In his new position, Grealish will be available for slide presentations to groups, associations, schools, etc. in the San Francisco-Peninsula area.

Presently on hand are the following subjects: "The Soviet Sea Power Presence, The Sea Power Challenge, Navy Strategic Systems," and "Oceans of Commerce."

The length of the presentation may be tailored to the time allotted for guest speakers on the agenda of the organization.

A resident of Daly City, Grealish is a commissioner of the San Mateo County Harbor District.

Naval Reserve Course For K. M. Grealish

Kent M. Grealish of Daly City has been selected for Class 7102 at the Naval Officer Candidate School at Newport, Rhode Island, reporting for indoctrination August 22.

The course of four months leads to commissioning in the rank of Ensign, United States Naval Reserve.

A graduate of the class of 1970 at the University of San Francisco where he received his degree in marketing, Grealish will receive training in tactics, seamanship, engineering, navigation and communicatins during the course at Newport. Prior to his selection, he had attained the rating of quartermaster third class in the Naval Reserve.

He is the son of Mr, and Mrs. James V. Grealish of 36 Weston Drive.

Delivery Is His First

Joseph Bonollo, an active fire captain in Pacifica, delivered his first baby last night after an emergency call to an apartment at 325 Esplanade.

There was not time to get Mrs. Linda M. Moran, 22, to a hospital and soon gave birth to a son in her own bedroom.

An ambulance was standing by and whisked Mrs. Moran and her new child to Kaiser Hospital in San Francisco.

Seaman, Wife Are Arrested

A seaman stationed aboard the U.S. Aircraft carrier USS Coral Sea was arrested along with his 18-year-old wife on Monday after police allegedly found a quantity of marijuana in their Daly City apartment.

Officer Terry Hanebeck responded to a call for aid from Mrs. Brenda Martinez, 18, at 175 Second Avenue, about 4 a.m. She said her husband was having a heart attack.

During a discussion with the husband, Monty Martinez, 20, the officer was told the suspected heart victim was under the influence of a drug and that there were some other drugs in the home, according to an arrest report.

Police found 33 "lids" of marijuana, valued at an estimated street price of $500, in the apartment.

The seaman was not having a heart seizure, hospital authorities determined after examination.
